KEARNY AIRSHIP BASE SITE

BACKED BY HEAD OF NAVY

Secretary Adams Asks Congress to Select Southern Tract After General Board Picks It

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4. (Exclusive)—Southern California won an important and perhaps conclusive victory in its fight to land the naval dirigible base when Secretary of the Navy Adams recommended to Congress today that the Camp Kearny site near San Diego be selected.

In suggesting this site Secretary Adams followed the advice of the Navy General Board which, it develops, has overruled the report of the special investigating committee headed by Rear-Admiral Moffett, chief of naval aeronautics, recommending the rival location at Sunnyvale, near San Francisco.

The Secretary's letter delivered to the Vice-President and Speaker of the House, follows:

"In accordance with requirements of Public Act No. 994, Seventy-ninth Congress, I inclose majority and minority reports from the members of the west coast naval airship base board. Either of the locations recommended would be a satisfactory one for an airship base."

"In accordance with your instructions I recommend the Camp Kearny base because it is probably somewhat better strategically and because it will allow a closer contact and better co-operation with the fleet."

CONFIDENCE FELT

With Secretary Adams and the Navy General Board thus arrayed in favor of the San Diego site, Southern California members of Congress are confident tonight that this location ultimately will be chosen, although they realize that a long, arduous fight lies ahead before favorable action by Congress can be obtained over the protests of the up-State Sunnyvale adherents.

The contest now goes to the Naval Affairs Committee of the House, which will start hearings within the next two weeks and, according to Chairman Britten, devote as much time as may be necessary to sifting the controversy to the bottom before recommending a recommendation to the House.

Secretary Adams' letter transmitted the report of the special naval board originally named to recommend a site for the west coast dirigible base, and it was revealed that this board divided, 4 to 1, in favor of Sunnyvale.

HOW THEY VOTED

The four who voted for the San Diego site were Admiral Moffett, Commander G. L. Rowland, who is slated to command one of the new dirigibles, and Lieutenant-Commander R. L. Mayhew. The minority report favoring Camp Kearny was presented by Rear-Admiral J. M. Reeves.

The majority and minority reports of the special board were sent to Congress by Secretary Adams, but that of the General Board, which is the final authority, is not yet made public, and at the request of Representative Swing of St. Centro Chairman Britten will request tomorrow that this be done.

The General Board's report, however, San Diego consequently was expected at the Capitol before the end of the week.

SWING'S STATEMENT

Representative Swing, who is leading the Southern California fight for the Camp Kearny base, gave the Times the following statement tonight:

"I am very much gratified to have the Secretary of the Navy send to Congress the recommendation that the Camp Kearny be chosen the site of the dirigible base. The word of a Secretary of a department carries great weight in technical matters before Congress. Usually his advice and recommendations are followed."

"It is particularly interesting to me that the Secretary of the Navy should have chosen the Camp Kearny site."

SKY DATA AID KEARNY SITE

Dirigible Base There Will Have Less Fog and Rain Than Would One at Sunnyvale

The following meteorological data comparing Camp Kearny and Sunnyvale are based on a report prepared by Dr. Ford A. Carpenter, expert meteorologist, after an exhaustive examination of the United States Weather Bureau records at San Diego and San Jose, the former being a few miles from Camp Kearny and the latter about the same distance from Sunnyvale. These are the weather data for as many years as records have been kept.

	Camp Kearny	Sunnyvale
Average annual rainfall	8.70	14.50
Average number rainy days per year (.01 of an inch or more)	45	65
Average number days with dense fog	21	28
Number hours light fog (1928)	17	24
Number hours dense fog (1928)	17	24
Average maximum temperatures, degrees Fahr.	68	67
Average minimum temperatures, degrees Fahr.	54	53
Range of temperature, degrees Fahr.	14	14
Average wind velocity (miles per hour)	5.7	5.8

A preponderance of advantages over the Sunnyvale site proposed for the Pacific Coast naval dirigible base is possessed by the Camp Kearny site, according to a climatic and general reconnaissance of the two by Army Reserve. He made the survey as a consultant in meteorology and aeronautics, which is his private profession, for the Chamber of Commerce.

"The structure of dirigible balloons, therefore, where all other elements are of equal importance, the consideration of climatic conditions determine whether the location of a dirigible balloon base is effective and economical or inadvisable and expensive."

With this in mind, Dr. Carpenter visited both sites, conferring with reference to the most favorable

FAST RAIL CONSOLIDATION PLAN FOR NATION READY

Twenty Great Transport Systems Provided in Program Awaiting Submission to Congress

NEW YORK, Dec. 4. (Exclusive)—The long-awaited plan for consolidation of the great railroads of the United States now is ready to be submitted to Congress, after a delay of several years. The plan as now drawn divides the principal railroads of the country into twenty great systems. In spite of reports to the contrary the plan provides only four great systems in the eastern part of the United States, but creates a new one in New England with the various governors of the New England States provided for on the board of directors.

The New England system merges all the New England railroads into one great company and combines the New York, New Haven and Hartford with the Boston and Albany. It provides that the New England system shall be controlled by the four great systems west of the Hudson River.

In the West Southern Pacific, Union Pacific and Santa Fe are left as they are except that the Chicago-Great Western and the Missouri Pacific are combined with the Union Pacific. The Western Pacific is grouped with the Burlington and affiliated lines and also is given the Chicago and Alton west of Mexico, Mo.

ARRANGEMENTS OF LINES

The arrangement of the twenty lines as now grouped for submission to Congress is as follows:

(1) Pennsylvania system: The Pennsylvania Railroad Company, together with all of its subsidiaries, and the following: Norfolk and Western, Chicago and Alton, (east of Mexico, Mo.), Buffalo and Susquehanna, Lehigh Valley (one-half interest, and other half-interest by the Baltimore and Ohio system).

(2) Chesapeake and Ohio system: Chesapeake and Ohio, Rockwood Valley, New York, Chicago and St. Louis, Pere Marquette, Delaware, Lackawanna and Western; Erie, Bessmer and Lake Erie; Wheeling and Lake Erie; Pittsburgh and West Virginia, Shawmut and Western, Detroit and Mackinac.

(3) Baltimore and Ohio system: The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company and all of its subsidiaries, except the Baltimore and Ohio, Chicago terminal, including the following: Chicago, Indianapolis and Louisville; Detroit, Toledo and Western; Reading, except Catawissa branch; Western Maryland; Washburn, east of Mississippi River; Ann Arbor and Lake Erie (one-half interest); other half-interest to be held by Pennsylvania system.)

NEW YORK CENTRAL

(4) New York Central system: The New York Central Railroad Company and all of its subsidiaries, except as noted below of which the following are the most important: Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis; Michigan Central; Pittsburgh and Lake Erie; Toledo and Ohio Central; West Shore. Excluded from the New York Central system are the Erie, Erie and Erie terminal and belt lines such as the following:

Chicago, Indianapolis and Louisville; Detroit, Toledo and Western; Reading, except Catawissa branch; Western Maryland; Washburn, east of Mississippi River; Ann Arbor and Lake Erie (one-half interest); other half-interest to be held by Pennsylvania system.)

Thundering Herd to Defend West's Honors After Long Absence

Athletic Council to Select Opponent for Battle in Rose Bowl

BY PAUL LOWRY

The University of Southern California will play the New Year's Day game. For the first time since 1923 the Trojans will represent the West against an eastern opponent of their own selection in the annual football classic at Pasadena's Rose Bowl.

Officials of the local institution announced last night that the much-sought-after invitation had been received Tuesday night and acted upon favorably by the general athletic committee yesterday afternoon.

The statement from the Trojan university ends a flood of rumors over the identity of the western contender which started when California was defeated decisively by Stanford in the "Big Game" a week ago last Saturday.

BEARS WITHDRAW

Previous to this contest California, undefeated in the season play and conqueror of the Trojans, was in line for the invitation and was counted on as the western standard-bearer.

The Stanford defeat, plus Southern California's convincing triumph over Washington State, changed the complexion of things and forced the University of California to revise its plans.

California was still in the running, but with both the Bears and the Trojans charged with a defeat by the Rose Bowl, the game was furthered than the game was and lost column. California withdrew from the picture, and that left only the Stanford and Southern California in the running.

Southern California's selection followed a day after news of the withdrawal of the Bears from the list.

With the inviting of the western team the Tournament of Roses Association washes its hands of the matter. The Trojans are left free to do their own negotiating with an eastern eleven which, it is popularly presumed, will be Pittsburgh, although Purdue, champion of the "Big Ten," is a possibility.

The official invitation, which reached Southern California officials, was signed by Jack Mitchell, vice-president of the executive committee of the Tournament of Roses Association and chairman of the football committee composed of himself, C. Hal Heynolds and S. W. Scoville.

It reads as follows: "In inviting the University of Southern California to be the western representative in the New Year's Day game at Pasadena the Tournament of Roses Association wishes to state that it is committed to offer the game to any institution, and decided upon University of Southern California as the western team because of its splendid showing during the past season. Decision as to University of Southern California's east-west opponent rests entirely with the Trojan institution."

BID ACCEPTED

Will Rogers Remarks:

BEVERLY HILLS, Dec. 4. [To the Editor of the Times:] Mr. Hoover delivered his prescription to Congress yesterday on the "condition of the country." It was 12,000 words long. That's how bad shape we are in. And he hinted to Congress that they were the one that got us into this.

But that if they would get busy and do something at this session he hoped to cut our "condition" down to maybe 6000 by the time he enumerates our troubles again.

Yours, WILL ROGERS.

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA GETS RAIN

But Sea Storm, at First Headed for Southland, Turns Toward Alaska

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 4. (Exclusive)—Sprinkles of rain fell at Northern California points today, but was not heavy enough to be of any great benefit.

Forecaster Reed gives no promise of additional moisture in the forecast issued tonight. On the contrary, ship reports indicate the storm area moving toward the Coast from the Pacific has turned due north and is heading into the Gulf of Alaska.

Chico, Eureka and Sacramento each experienced a trace of rain. Overcast skies and rising humidity brought prospects of the forest-fire danger. Rain, was said, virtually will end the fire threat this season.

Flames on the edge of Big Basin redwood park along the San Mateo-Santa Cruz counties line continued to smolder but are not dangerous. Several small fires in Klamath National Forest are reported consumed, but in the remote Blue Creek district causing concern.

OREGON COAST RECEIVES GOOD RAIN

PORTLAND (Or.) Dec. 4. (AP)—Rain was general throughout the southwestern Oregon coast country and the lower Willamette Valley during the night, reports indicated today.

Federal Court to Try Officer

DULUTH (Minn.) Dec. 4. (AP)—Emmet J. White, Federal customs patrolman, will be tried in United States District Court today on a charge of manslaughter in the slaying of Henry Wickham near Little Falls, Minn., it was announced in Federal Court today.

Idle Ford Men Will Work Soon

DETROIT, Dec. 4. (AP)—The Ford Motor Company plans to re-employ all men temporarily laid off within a few days, according to information given out late tonight.

The announcement was given to the Dearborn Press for publication tomorrow in the weekly newspaper of Henry Ford's home city.

me that in the 4-1 vote of the special investigating board three votes were cast by the men Admirals Moffett, Pickett and the board and who are subordinate to his rank. "Apparently the Secretary was misled by the report of the General Board, which has not yet been made public. This report obviously recommended Camp Kearney. It will be a hard fight in Congress, but the recommendations of the General Board of the Navy as well as its Secretary should carry considerable weight."

"I am greatly encouraged by the Southern California's showing today. I greatly appreciate the splendid support given the Camp Kearney site by Southern California and the Southwest."

EVANS PLEADED
Representative Evans of Glendale, another champion of the San Diego site and a member of the Naval Affairs Committee, also expressed satisfaction over today's developments.

Both the majority and minority reports of the special board recommended that whichever site in California is selected the other should be acquired as an auxiliary mooring and servicing station so that the two dirigibles can move at will to serve with the fleet. All hands agreed also that a tract should be acquired at Camp Lewis, Wash., in the Puget Sound area, with the same facilities.

The board reported that it believed the necessary land can be bought for $250 an acre at Camp Kearney and that at Sunnyside at from $400 to $500 an acre. The board said that 1000 acres will suffice at Camp Kearney, but that in the case of Sunnyside, the entire tract of 1700 acres should be acquired.

For Camp Lewis, Wash., the recommendation was acquisition of 5000 acres through a trade with the War Department.

The board estimated the total cost of the dirigible base at either Camp Kearney or Sunnyside at $4,993,550, or just within the $5,000,000 authorized by Congress. This estimate contemplates $2,250,000 being spent on the hangar.

EIGHT CONSIDERED
Eight sites were considered by the special board. For Lewis, Wash., and Scappoose, Or., in the Puget Sound area; Cotati, Marin Meadows and Sunnyside in the San Francisco Bay area and Long Beach, Santa Ana and Camp Kearney in the Los Angeles-San Diego area.

The board concluded that Camp Kearney and Sunnyside were the two most suitable locations. Thus the fight narrowed to these two sites. At both locations the Navy was offered 1000 acres free of charge.

In its analysis of the two sites the special board reported that Camp Kearney is less liable to earthquake shocks than Sunnyside. It also noted that this site is 212 miles nearer the fleet anchorage at San Pedro than Sunnyside, is nearer the naval supply base at San Diego and is closer to the Panama Canal by 204 miles.

"It is said, however, that Camp Kearney was open to enemy attack from sea and near a foreign border and that the hangar and other structures of the base would be on a high, exposed mesa seven miles from sea where it would make a prominent landmark and huge target. In this connection, however, it was pointed out that being close to an area of great airplane activity

NORTH TO START FIGHT NOW

Sunnyside Adherents Adopt Paul Jones Molloy; Move Launched for Lobby to Congress

Word of the Secretary's preference came as the committee met to discuss the sending of a special delegation to Washington to lobby with Congress for the selection of Sunnyside.

"The Secretary's recommendation," Supple declared, "is the signal for San Francisco and Northern California and all our friends in other States to get ready for an aggressive campaign in Washington. "Congress has the final say and Sunnyside's chances are as good, if not better, than Camp Kearney's. A telegram was sent to Secretary Adams tonight over the signature of the Chamber of Commerce, the Junior Chamber, the Downtown Association and the chambers of Alameda, San Mateo and Santa Clara counties, reading:

REBUKE SECRETARY
"Northern and Central California and all who have endorsed Sunnyside are amazed at your rejection of the report of the special board of experts appointed by you who, by vote of four to two, recommended Sunnyside as the site for the main navy dirigible air base on the Pacific Coast."

"We assume that the Navy Department does not accept the findings of its own technical board."

"We cannot understand the apparent indifference of the Navy Department to the naval importance of the San Francisco Bay area."

CHAMBER CONGRATULATES
SAN DIEGO WORKERS
The hope that Congress will carry out the recommendation of Secretary of the Navy Adams that the Pacific Coast naval dirigible base be located at Camp Kearney was expressed yesterday by Secretary Arpelli of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce. This body at the request of the San Diego Chamber of Commerce was active in the campaign to effect selection of the Camp Kearney site, eleven miles from San Diego. Arpelli sent greetings to San Diego upon receipt of the good news.

"The chamber is indeed grateful," Arpelli commented, "to see by the action of Secretary Adams in recommending Camp Kearney that he has maintained the attitude of the site could be defended by airplanes."

SUNNYSIDE ANALYZED
As regards Sunnyside the board said that since there is no air base in the San Francisco area that site offered one that could be used by airplanes as well as dirigibles and would be available for fleet planes and that this would be valuable in war.

The report said that Sunnyside offers better natural protection than Camp Kearney in that it is not exposed to enemy gunfire from the sea and that it would have to run the gauntlet of the entire San Francisco bay air defenses. The site, the report stated, could be developed as a seaplane base by acquisition and development of the tidal marsh north of the site. It also was stated that Sunnyside is nearer a navy yard and repair base than Camp Kearney. The report said that there is well-developed railroad service in the Sunnyside area and no corresponding service at Camp Kearney.

Labor is plentiful at both sites, the report said, but Sunnyside has the advantage in housing and living conditions.

STRATEGIC ANGLE
The majority report declared that the difference in strategic advantage in favor of Camp Kearney was "not sufficiently great to offset the other advantages of Sunnyside." In connection with the location of the base from a strategic standpoint attention was called to the policy of the Navy Department "to build a new naval base on the Pacific Coast in the San Francisco Bay area."

"Nothing is said in the department's policy," the majority report declared, "about the establishment of a naval base in the Los Angeles-San Diego area and it must be assumed that in the establishment of this policy the location of the fleet in times of both peace and war—and in fact, all elements bearing on the subject—were considered. The proposed airship base is to an airship what a dry dock and navy yard are to surface vessels. It would, therefore, seem reasonable to assume that if the policy to locate a naval base in the bay area is correct the same reasons would apply to the location of an airship base there keeping in mind that mooring masts would be established in the San Diego-Los Angeles area from which the airship could operate in close connection with the fleet when in that region."

WHAT REEVES SAYS
Rear-Admiral Reeves said he was unable to agree with his colleagues either on their conclusions or the methods by which they arrived at their recommendations. Being guided by the instructions to the special board from the Navy Department to make a report "based upon the general strategic requirements of the United States with a view of having the airship base located in such an area that it will best support the fleet in its operations during both peace and war," he said he could come to no other conclusion but the Camp Kearney should be selected.

He declared that this site is superior in strategic factors and in support of the fleet. "It is situated," he said, "in the central strategic area. While San Francisco is nearer the center of the Pacific Coast line it is not so near the center of the strategic area by 450 miles. Furthermore San Diego is on the flank of important considerations."

SKY DATA AID CAMP KEARNEY

Dirigible Base Sites Studied as to Fog and Rain

Dr. Carpenter Traces Figures on Weather Factors

Temperature Enters Into His Scientific Inquiry

chambers of commerce at both places and otherwise pursuing his scientific studies openly. No meteorological data was available at the site, but eleven miles from Camp Kearney is the San Diego United States Weather Bureau with its records of years. Likewise, eight and one-half miles from Sunnyside is the San Jose United States Weather Bureau with its records. So Dr. Carpenter's studies of data at those places represent virtually conditions existing at the Sunnyside and Camp Kearney sites, he pointed out.

Looking into the matter of temperature, the variation of which so affects fog density and consequently its lifting power, Dr. Carpenter found at San Jose a range of 24.4 degrees between the annual average minimum temperature of 49.7 and annual average maximum of 45.3, whereas at San Diego the range was but 14, the maximum being 68 and minimum being 54. The San Jose statistical record available for such computation covered the period 1906-1928. The San Diego period covered the years 1870-1928.

Dr. Carpenter pointed out that "during the winter months, San Jose has a daytime temperature several degrees cooler than San Diego while during the summer months it is markedly warmer" and that the variation between day and night temperatures in San Jose is considerably less than in San Jose.

MORE RAIN IN NORTH
Rain, another factor that counts for much in manipulation of the huge dirigible bulks and in general human activity, is considerably more prevalent in San Jose than in San Diego. Dr. Carpenter observed that the difference of 400 miles between the Central and Southern California places is responsible for nearly 50 per cent increase in rainfall and that "the increase in number of rainy days from forty-five at San Diego to nearly 100 at San Jose shows the latter's greater proximity to storm tracks"—and storms mean something to ponderous dirigibles.

His figures show San Diego's average rainfall is 27 inches, San Jose 56 inches. He found that in San Diego rainy days occur forty-five days a year on the average, whereas at San Jose they occur on sixty-five days. A rainy day is regarded as one on which .01 of an inch or more of water fell. San Diego records available for computation covered the period 1880-1928; San Jose, 1874-1928.

From the base of all flying, biplanes and across the ocean to Honolulu, while San Diego experienced but twenty-three hours, Dr. Carpenter found in the Weather Bureau records and Rio Grande Western for the whole year, San Jose suffered 243 hours of light fog and twenty-nine hours of dense fog, whereas San Diego experienced but seventeen hours of light fog and but six hours of dense fog. Weather Bureau records show that San Jose has one which in daylight obscures large objects 1000 feet and a light fog when visibility generally is impaired.

ANOTHER FACTOR
Another variation in climatic unitarity is noted in figures which show that although San Jose has more fog in its air than San Diego generally, yet at noon San Jose generally is drier. This variation also affects the sensitive contracting and plane operating.

In this matter, Dr. Carpenter found that the Weather Bureau figures show that San Jose experiences more fog than San Diego for the period 1873-1928. San Jose experienced a maximum wind of forty-four miles an hour. In the period 1873-1928 San Jose's highest wind was forty miles an hour. The periods were the only ones available for such computation. They show for San Jose an average wind of 5.8 miles an hour; San Diego, 5.7.

MATTER OF DEFENSE
"The proper location of a Pacific Coast naval dirigible base," Dr. Carpenter says in concluding his report, "is not only a matter of professional concern to the Navy or of financial and political concern to residents of California. It transcends either technical or provincial pride. It is a matter of national defense and on this basis alone must the final decision be made."

Dr. Carpenter recently was advanced to lieutenant-colonel from that of major in staff specialists of the Army Balloon Corps Reserve. He is an internationally licensed balloon pilot. For more than thirty years he has been an observer for the United States Weather Bureau. He frequently has lectured before the war colleges, United States Military Academy, United States Naval Academy and universities both in the East and here. In private life he is a consultant in meteorology and aeronautics. He has important meteorological inventions to his credit, is president of Southern California Academy of Sciences and a member of the English Royal Geographical and Meteorological societies.

His scientific study of the two naval dirigible base sites now under consideration by the Navy Department and shortly to come up in Congress has been sent by the Chamber of Commerce to Washington.

Arizona Asks Congress to Transfer Use of Acreage in Papago Saguaro Area

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4. (AP)—Abolishment of the Papago Saguaro national monument in Arizona and disposition of land within its boundaries for park, recreational and other uses would be authorized under a bill introduced by Representative Douglas of Arizona.

Part of the land would be reserved for the Arizona National Guard and a large portion made available to Arizona for recreational and park purposes on payment of $1.25 per acre within two years after passage of the bill. Additional acreage would be made available to the town of Tempe under the same conditions.

The Salt River Valley Water Users Association would be granted a right to purchase within two years eighty-five acres of the land at $1.25 per acre to be used as right of way along a canal flume and pipe line of the association.

RICH WOMAN ADOPTS MAN

Sixty-nine-Year-Old Widow Legally Acquires Son.

Armenian 29 Years of Age to Get Fortune

Unique Relationship Begun
by Turkish Massacre

NEW YORK, Dec. 4. (Exclusive)
A gray-haired, bent, little 69-year-old widow, descendant of one of America's oldest families, today adopted a good-looking, tall 29-year-old Armenian as her legal son, specifying that he is to inherit all of her $750,000 fortune when she dies.

The adoption proceedings presented a curious little one-act play in Bergen County Courthouse, in Hackensack, N. J. The aged widow arrived wrapped in expensive furs in a limousine with the darkskinned young cavalier. In a soft, refined voice she told Judge Mat-locks she is Mrs. Lisa W. Sanford, capitalist. She identified the other-faced young man with her as Baronig Baron of Teaneck, N. J., and declared her annual income is $25,000 from her realty.

When the adoption papers were signed Mrs. Sanford took Baron's arm and they walked from the courtroom to the limousine. The tall young man remained silent throughout the proceedings.

My wish for a son and protector can be understood by any woman who is alone in the world," Mrs.
Sanford explained later. She said she met Baron, whose parents were massacred by the Turks, while doing Armenian relief work, and at once took an interest in him. He gratified from Cooper Union, she said, and has won honors at Columbia University, where he is studying electrical engineering. Mrs.
Sanford, whose husband died in 1921, has a married daughter.

Tonight "mother" and "son" were found together in a spacious, lavishly furnished apartment on the thirteenth floor of an ornate Central Park West apartment building here.

"Do you expect to be a real son to Mrs. Sanford?" the young Armenian was asked.
"Yes," he replied, speaking with a decided accent. "Yes, I expect to be her son and make her happy as a son should."

merly to be among the proper con-

LOWVILLE'S CINDERELLA DISAPPEARS

Girl Who Offered to Wed for Cash Spirited Away
by Churchwomen

SYRACUSE (N. Y.), Dec. 4. (Exclusive)—Women church workers today interrupted the sensational career of Miss Viola Mae Norris, 24 years of age, the Lowville Cinderella whose offer to marry "any decent man who would give her $10,000 to help her destitute family," brought her nation-wide attention and a two-year vaudiville contract. They kidnaped her from the Empire Theater, where she has been appearing, and no trace could be found of her tonight.

Tonight the theater management requested the police to search for the girl. When she failed to appear at the matinee today 1700 patrons demanded and received a refund of their money. The theater, as a result, has no sympathy with the movement to "protect" the girl.
Miss Norris said this morning that she is "sick of the whole business."
She also said that she had not made the offer really to get money but that she wished to prevail on "Charley to mend his ways." Charley—the boy friend back in Lowville, and Miss Norris said if he would "mend his ways" she would marry him, even for nothing.
The girl has received many offers of marriage, some of them sincere.
When she vanished today she was dressed in expensive clothes and had been transformed by beauty facials, all at the expense of the theater management.

Crail Placed on High Committee; Swing Loses Out

By a "Times" Staff Representative WASHINGTON, Dec. 4. (Exclusive)—Representative Crail of Los Angeles was placed on the House Foreign Affairs Committee today by action of the Republican Committee on Committees. This is one of the major committees of the lower branch of Congress, and it is in that a two-term, as Crail is, lands on it.
Representative Swing of Ill. Centro was turned down on his request for a place on the Naval Affairs Committee. He formerly was a member of this committee, and hoped to go back there so he could be in a strategic position to fight for the San Diego dirigible base.
But because of this controversy members from Northern California opposed the move and frustrated it.

WIFE MAY REWED RICH MAN

Mrs. Church, Paid by His Family to Divorce Son of "Baking Soda King," Plans Tryst With Him

RENO, Dec. 4. (P.)—On her way to keep a tryst in Rome with her ex-husband, whom she divorced here November 25 on grounds of non-support, Mrs. Agnes Aurelia Church departed yesterday for San Francisco in a $3000 automobile which she purchased Monday after receiving a draft for $10,000 from the law firm of Hughes, Shuman & Dwight of New York City.

The $10,000 draft was the first payment of a $50,000 settlement made on the ex-wife of Francois Louis Church, son of "the baking soda king," for getting a divorce in Reno to satisfy the Church family.
Having a telegram from her ex-husband telling her he will meet her in Rome, Mrs. Church bade good-by yesterday to Reno friends and they confirmed reports from New York that the former telephone girl, now 25 years of age, still is "desperately in love with Francois and intends to marry him again."
"It's all his mother's fault," they declared. "The Church family wanted to get rid of her but it cost them some money and they are not rid of her yet by any means."
If she does remarry the son, she probably will sue Mrs. Church for alienation of the affections of the youth.

The couple was married secretly in Hoboken, N. J., on January 28, 1922, and went to Reno for a honeymoon. On their return they lived at the Roosevelt Hotel in New York for a year or so. One man-ing, so her friends say, she was advised that her husband had left a note in the hotel office declining to be responsible for her room or board any longer and also informing her he had departed, never to return.

LITTLE AMERICA (Antarctica)
Dec. 4. (Exclusive)—The Byrd geological party now is at the foot of the Queen Maud range trying to find a way to the key points of geological interest. Dr. Gould sent back word to the base that he tried to ascend Liv's Glacier, but was stopped by crevasses and precipices of ice and that he intends to head eastward and try to ascend to the plateau by way of the Axel Heiberg Glacier. In his opinion he says:
"December 1—We stood by on polar flight until plane landed and then tried to raise the base in order to find first to send you our felicitations. Many thanks for things dropped from plane, especially photographs, which will be of great value."
VERY LITTLE REST
"Broke camp after your flight and made twenty-three miles. Yesterday by great effort we drove thirty-five nautical miles (about forty statute miles) and are now camped at the foot of Liv Glacier in the very shadow of Mt. Nansen. Since leaving Little America have had but two days' rest. I have been up every morning at 6 o'clock or earlier as a rule we have traveled until 9 at night. We have been too tired after long day's trek to turn hand generator of radio to tell you much about it."
The last week has been especially hard with continuous wind from southeast, with heavy, blinding drift.
The two things that have specially made this trip possible are the did sledges built by Strom and Balchen and the fact that we have traveled all the way on skis. Latter probably saved us yesterday, for we crossed countless crevasses.
When Freddie sends you this Thorne, O'Brien and I will be somewhere up Liv Glacier. Expect to spend a few days in this locality and then call at your cache as we move eastward. Distances are even more deceptive here than in a desert and far away than is suggested by Amundsen's chart. The mountains are all I had hoped for and I look forward toward the coming weeks as the best ones I have ever had.
Have had perfect co-operation of men with me and we are bound to accomplish much. I am again singing."

THE next message was sent Monday and said:
"We and things done on a much bigger scale than we anticipated.
The mountains that hold the key to geology are far behind the foothills and we must ascend the plateau to get at them. Found Liv Glacier frightfully crevassed and after seeing great ice falls ahead have decided to try to ascend by way of Axel Heiberg Glacier. Will, therefore, be grateful for any information you can give us. We leave this place in the morning, headed eastward. We have called this first mountain camp, "Camp Cyclone Haines" because the wind blows so hard."
Commander Byrd is sending information to Dr. Gould as to the photographs made on the polar flight which will help him to get around the worst of the crevasses and also give him many valuable hints as to the best way to get up Axel Heiberg. This is a new means of co-operation in the Antarctic, something of inestimable value to men on the trail and which never before has been available.

PROPOSED FILIPINO BAN TO START ROW

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4. (P.)—
Learning that Representative Welch California, intends introducing in immigration from the United States, Commissioner Guevara said today he would "fight the bill to the last breath." The Welch bill differs from last year's measure and allows Filipinos to enter Hawaii.

BRIDE CHOOSES BIZARRE GOWN

Parisian Modiste Will Wed
Indian Potentate

She Will Wear Colors of Khan's Racing Stables

Green and Brown Prevail in $50,000 Trousseau

(Copyright, 1929, Chicago Tribune.)
PARIS, Dec. 4. (Exclusive)—When the Parisian modiste, Jane Andree Carron, weds Aga Khan, potentate of one of the most important sections of Mussulmans in India, next Saturday at Aix-les-Bains, she will set a new style in wedding dresses by wearing the colors of the bridegroom's racing stable.
Unbelievable though it may seem,
the bride-to-be will go to the altar, or rather before the Mayor of Aixles-Bains, and then before the Imams of the Mohammedan Mosque near Lake Bourget, clad in emerald and chocolate. This is the lovely combination which Aga Khan's thoroughbreds have made familiar to Parisian racing crowds. The dress will be of pearly velvet, incrusted with heavy cream lace and with crepe hanging over the left shoulder, caught by a band of weasel fur.

The banns, posted in the City Hall of Aix-les-Bains, give Saturday at 10 o'clock as the day and hour of the nuptials of the Hindu potentate and the 31-year-old French girl of modest origin whose father is in charge of personnel of one of the leading Paris hotels. Six airplanes will carry the wedding guests from Paris. The ceremony, however, will be a simple civil affair before the Mayor of Aix-les-Bains, who happens to be Henri Clerc, a French dramatist who never imagined anything so fantastic as this marriage in any of his plays.
Immediately after the civil ceremony the couple will proceed to a castle Aga Khan had erected in one of the most poetic spots on the shores of Lake Bourget, a few miles from Aix-les-Bains, for the Mohammedan ceremony. As Indian Mohammedans can marry Catholics, Protestants and Israelites with impunity, Mlle. Carron will not have to adopt her husband's creed.

The bride's trousseau is valued at

President's Budget Message Shows Finances of Nation Sound

FIGURES ON BOULDER DAM TO BE SUBMITTED LATER

Hoover Asks Increases for Forest Protection and Care of Indians; Building Funds Urged

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4. (AP)—President Hoover's message transmitting the annual Federal budget to Congress today follows:

To the Congress of the United States:

I have the honor to transmit herewith the budget of the United States for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1931. An accompanying statement shows that the total of the estimates of appropriations payable from the Treasury in this budget is $1,448,696,000 less than the appropriations for 1930, $1,500,000,000, but the increase in the budget, however, contains no amount for the revolving fund for the Federal Farm Board, for which $10,000,000 is included in the appropriations for 1930, therefore, for purposes of comparison, $150,000,000 should be deducted from the amount of the estimates of appropriations for 1930, eliminating this item from the 1930 total the estimates of appropriations in the budget for 1931 exceed the appropriations for 1930 by $4,304,000. Concerning the Federal Farm Board, I am simply delaying the presentation of the budget for this year until an additional amount for the revolving loan fund until it is known whether the Federal Farm Board will be needed. This will not in any way hamper the board, as it has sufficient funds at present and an estimate will be presented in the progress in ample time in advance of any requirements for more money.

INCREASES NOTED

Through concurring items and justified reductions in other items have been found to make increases in certain of our activities without enlarging to any appreciable extent the total of the estimates for 1931 over the appropriations for 1930. The larger items of increase and decrease are indicated in an accompanying table.

With regard to the increases for 1931 there are certain activities which I desire to bring especially to the attention of the Congress.

Rivers and harbors, flood relief, Boulder Dam.—The estimate herewith contains an increase of $1,000,000 for flood control and $1,000,000 for rivers and harbors over the appropriation for these purposes for the current fiscal year. Moreover, the completion this year of the work on the Ohio River will reduce about $5,000,000 in river and harbor work so that, in effect, the increase in the estimates for rivers and harbors is $1,000,000. With regard to the Boulder Dam project authorized by the act of Congress approved December 21, 1928, the details have not been completed in time to permit of their being included in the estimates contained in this budget. It is contemplated to present to Congress at an early date an estimate to cover the initiation of this work.

WILL BENEFIT NATION

Departments of State and Justice. I am asking for considerable increases in the appropriations for these two departments for the fiscal year 1931 as compared with the appropriations for the fiscal year 1930. I feel that the importance of the functions devolving upon these two departments in the conduct of our foreign affairs and in law enforcement and the administration of our criminal system are of vital concern to the nation and that both departments require more generous appropriations.

The increase requested for the department of State is more than $1,400,000, or about 15 per cent, and that for the department of Justice is more than $1,000,000, or about 14 per cent. I am confident that these increases will reflect benefits to the nation greater than can be measured in terms of the increased cost.

MORE FOR INDIANS

As wards of the nation the government has an obligation to the Indians which concerns not only their present but their future welfare. To raise the standard of their living, to adequately provide for their health and education and to advance their opportunity for profitable employment are the objects of the government. In order that we may more fully discharge our obligations to the Indians, I am asking for an increase of something more than $1,000,000 over the appropriations for the current year. This increase is requested so that we may more adequately meet the needs for educational and health work among the Indians and for their industrial assistance and advancement. I do not feel, however, that we should wait until the next year to make a general improvement in our Indian affairs. I am confident that we should commence this now. This will require additional funds for the current fiscal year for which an estimate will be presented to the Congress.

AID FOR FORESTS

Forest protection.—For the protection of our forests I am asking for a substantial increase in appropriations, amounting to more than $2,000,000. We have been successful in past years in large measure in the suppression of fires. The last five years these expenditures have amounted to more than $20,000,000, and the best estimate is an $8,500,000 will be required this year for the current fiscal year. We cannot afford to eliminate this expenditure for spending money in the suppression of fires, but our efforts should be to minimize the necessity for more and more adequate protection measures. This is essential, merely to effect a saving in the cost of suppression of fires, but to prevent the incalculable loss which results from the destruction of our forests. Such loss involves not only timber itself, but the protection which it affords against soil erosion and floods. As the custodian of the national forests, national parks and the public lands the Federal government is responsible for their protection. The obligations of this character cannot be met within the limits of the present appropriations and it is for this reason that I am asking for an increase to commence a program of more adequate protection of our forests. The protection of our present holdings certainly outweighs in importance the

The Army, provision is made for the procurement of the 443 airplanes authorized by the act of August 1, 1928, the five-year program authorized by the Congress. This program calls for 1518 planes to be on hand and ready for service by June 30, 1931, and it is believed that this goal will be reached or closely approached by the funds already appropriated and the amounts estimated in this budget. The present shortage in the program is about forty planes per annum, and the amount of the program has been specifically included in the 1931 estimates to make up this shortage in view of the fact that the program is a complete elimination before the final increment is reached.

Navy Air Service

Concerning the Navy Air Service, the program authorized by the five-year program authorized by the Congress will be reached in 1931. This program contemplates about 1000 planes to be on hand and ready for service by June 30, 1931, and it is believed that this goal will be reached or closely approached by the funds already appropriated and the amounts estimated in this budget. The present shortage in the program is about forty planes per annum, and the amount of the program has been specifically included in the 1931 estimates to make up this shortage in view of the fact that the program is a complete elimination before the final increment is reached.

THE FRENCH DEBT

In the message transmitting the 1930 budget to the Congress, the French debt was discussed. A portion of the indebtedness of France, representing surplus war materials purchased on credit, was due to mature during the fiscal year 1930, unless the agreement of April 29, 1929, providing for the reduction of the entire indebtedness of France to the United States, should be ratified by both France and the United States, in which case this indebtedness would be merged in the general indebtedness of that country to the United States. In the spring of this year it seemed clear to the Treasury that the government of France would ratify the agreement in the general debt of the United States. The Congress of the United States was considering the question of ratifying for two or three months and the Treasury was faced with the situation that the debt agreement would be ratified by France, that certain obligations of that government would mature on August 1, that the Congress would not be in session and that there was no authority on the part of the executive branch of the government other than to submit the obligations on their maturity date for payment.

THE BUDGET, 1931

The increase in actual receipts for 1929 over the estimate can be attributed mainly to an unforeseen increase in receipts from the Federal income tax. On the expenditure side, there were a number of expenditures of considerable magnitude, the total excess of actual expenditures over the estimate, $34,000,000, is but slightly in excess of the amount paid on account of back pay, an expenditure which could not have been anticipated in the estimate. For the current fiscal year 1930 there is a marked improvement over the financial situation as estimated in the budget for 1929 transmitted to the Congress in December, 1928. Compared with the estimate of one year ago the receipts show an increase of about $40,000,000 and the expenditures about $24,000,000. On the receipt side the increase in the estimate is reflected generally in the income tax, $30,000,000, due to an abnormal increase in the incomes reported by individuals for 1928 and to this exceedingly prosperous business year; miscellaneous internal revenue, $10,000,000, derived in the main from a steady expansion of the tobacco tax and increased stamp tax receipts; customs, $20,000,000, and miscellaneous receipts, about

HOOPER SOON TO OFFER NEW FIGURES ON BUDGET

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4. (AP)—President Hoover has completed and soon will make public a set of budget figures in very different form from that given in the regular budget transmitted to Congress. He calls it a personal budget and it shows expenditures by classification rather than by departments, with precise amounts the government proposes to spend in the next fiscal year for its various activities, such as national defense, care of veterans and their dependents, law enforcement in all of its branches, and the like.

The Chief Executive believes that this will give the public a more readily understandable picture of where the money goes than is furnished in the bulky and rather technical form of the budget Congress must have in order to frame appropriation bills for the departments and independent agencies.

$7,000,000. On the expenditure side the principal items making up the increase in the estimate are $75,000,000 for the net expenditures for the revolving loan fund of the Federal Farm Board, $77,000,000 for public-debt retirement, $17,700,000 for the postal deficiency, $23,000,000 for the construction and modernization of naval ships, $42,000,000 for the Treasury Department, pertaining mainly to the settlement of war claims and the public building program, and $11,800,000 for the Veterans' Bureau.

TAX REDUCTION

With an estimated surplus of over $225,000,000 this year and $122,000,000 next year it is felt that some measure of reduction in taxes is justified. Since the fiscal year 1921 four reductions in taxes have been made. Experience has shown that each reduction in taxes has resulted in revenue in excess of the mathematically computed return under the reduced rates. Undoubtedly an increase in the prosperity of business brought forth by tax reduction is partly responsible for this experience. Such reduction gives the taxpayer correspondingly more for his own use and thus increases the capital available for general business. Under the present circumstances I am in favor of a reduction in income taxes to be effective on returns for the calendar year 1929, which will be due March 15, 1930. Payment under these returns will be made during the last half of the current fiscal year 1930 and the first half of the coming fiscal year 1931, so that the reduction will be reflected in the two years for which we now anticipate a surplus. I therefore recommend that taxes upon incomes for the calendar year 1929 be reduced in the approximate sum of $100,000,000. I would suggest to Congress that this be effected, as recommended by the Secretary of the Treasury, by reducing by 1 per cent the rate of the normal tax on the incomes of individuals and corporations, applicable to 1929 incomes and payable in the calendar year 1930. This will afford either directly or indirectly relief to the maximum number of taxpayers. Our effort will be to conduct our financial requirements so as to continue the benefits of reduced taxation for succeeding calendar years. It would not, however, at this time be safe to extend the benefits of the reduction. A year hence we will know more definitely whether the condition of our finances justified a continuation or extension of the reduction.

CONCLUSION

Our finances are in sound condition. The public debt which at its peak in August, 1919, amounted to $28,896,000,000, stood at $16,931,000,000 on June 30, 1929. We are wisely committed to a policy which insures the further progressive reduction of the debt. We will reach in 1931 for the first time the period when the annual reduction required by law in the principal of the debt will be greater than the annual interest charges on the debt. We are also committed to the annual amortization of our other long-term commitments—such as the adjustment of the general debt of the United States and our liability under the retirement laws affecting civilian personnel. Our estimated expenditures for this and the next year are well within our expected receipts. With the recommended reduction in taxes the margin between the two will be considerably lessened, but to what extent we do not definitely know today. This situation emphasizes the necessity for a careful scrutiny of any proposed additional activities which would involve a material increase in expenditures in order that we may not jeopardize either the balanced condition of the budget or the continuation of the benefits of reduced taxation.

TAX SLASH BILL BEFORE HOUSE

Ways and Means Committee Sets Speed Example

Passage Today Possible if Members Co-operate

Iowan Only Opponent So Far
of Relief Measure

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4. (AP)—Setting what it hopes will be an example for the House, the Ways and Means Committee quickly approved the administration program for a $160,000,000 cut in 1929 income taxes today and the House will take it up tomorrow.

Undersecretary Ogden Mills of the Treasury explained the plan for a flat 1 per cent reduction of taxes on corporations and normal individual incomes in the returns to be paid next year. After the committee hearing Chairman Hawley obtained unanimous consent of the House to report the measure tonight to eliminate all obstacles to consideration.

TOWAN OBJECTS

With everything prepared by the majority leaders for quick passage of the measure tomorrow, the first opposition to the program recommended to Congress by President Hoover and approved by party leaders in both branches developed in the House.

Representative Ramseyer, Republican, Iowa, expressed the opinion that such a program would create a deficit in the national Treasury. The action took the Republican leaders by surprise but they joined with the remainder of the House membership in granting him unanimous consent to file minority views.

The corporation rate will be reduced from 12 to 11 per cent for the one year by the measure. Corporation taxes will be reduced by $80,000,000 and individual income taxes by $70,000,000.

MELLON OFFERS TAX SLASH PLAN

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4. (AP)—Secretary Mellon placed a tax-reduction plan formally before Congress today along with a statement that business was good in 1929 and promises to be good in 1930.

Citing a surplus of Treasury receipts over expenditures of $194,000,000 for the fiscal year ended June 30, last, and estimating $228,000,000 will be available for the twelve months ending June 30, 1930, and $122,000,000 for 1931, he suggested the following rate changes:

A reduction on normal incomes and corporation incomes of 1 per cent, making the levy on individual incomes 14.1 per cent on the first $4000, 2 per cent on the next $4000 and 4 per cent on all above that figure, with a drop from 12 to 11 per cent on corporations.

Mellon said the lowering of the tax on corporations would benefit the largest number of persons. These business organizations, he said, are overtaxed in comparison with individuals.

The Secretary emphasized his known views in making his recommendations. These included one which he previously had made informally that Congress adopt a flexible provision for the tax law which would enable the government to lower or raise taxes as the condition of the Treasury finances warranted.

PUBLIC DEBT REDUCED

In making his tax reduction recommendation the Secretary said that the public debt is being cared for adequately, and pointed out that the total was reduced from $17,604,290,562 to $16,501,197,747 in the fiscal year 1930. He presented estimates showing that in the present fiscal year (1930) the Treasury expects to collect $4,248,364,364, and estimates expenditures at $4,023,681,800, while in 1931 it expects to collect $4,225,737,666, and spend $4,102,888,700.

In asking that the corporation tax be reduced 1 per cent the Secretary pointed to statistics which he said showed that corporations were taxed 24.46 per cent of their income, whereas 2,659,000 individuals had an average rate of taxation of 0.48 per cent.

"The number of individuals contributing directly to the support of the Federal government through the Federal income tax has been strictly limited," the report said, "and of those contributing the vast majority pay but an insignificant amount at a very low rate. Of 2,659,000 individuals returning taxable income 2,059,000 returned but $22,861,000 of income tax, while 578,000 individuals returned a net tax of $1,109,000,000. The average rate of tax on the net income of the 2,059,000 individuals was 0.42 per cent, whereas the million of individuals who owned stock in corporations were that year paying through corporations 12 per cent on the profits of the business enterprise in which they were shareholders."

Mr. Mellon declared the Federal Reserve Board had endeavored to guard against undue extension of credit through speculative channels and to conserve the country's resources for the purpose of meeting the future requirements of industry and trade. He called attention to the extension of group banking, and urged that Congress study the situation. It is hoped, however, he said, that any further extension of group and branch banking "will proceed with moderation and that hasty legislation, either to liberate or restrict limitations now in effect, will be avoided."

Out of 8707 banks in the Federal Reserve System 354 are operating 2291 branches, he said.

PROHIBITION AFFAIRS

Lectures on the "proper and lawful" methods of prohibition enforcement have been given to agents in every section of the country, the Secretary informed. Congress and all agents now have specific instructions regarding the rights of citizens under the Constitution.

The operations of the Treasury Department in the enforcement of prohibition are becoming more stable and more effective, he said.

During the fiscal year 1929, the report said, prohibition agents arrested 86,878 persons, seized automobiles valued at $2,979,013, and 89 boats valued at $280,845.

Commerce Official Would Create Commission

Censorship of Broadcasting Also Supported

Senate Committee Told Ship Inspection Adequate

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4. (P)—Creation of a new commission to control radio, telegraph and telephone communications was urged today before the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee by William D. Terrell, the Commerce Department's radio division chief.

Some of the discussion before the committee, which is investigating the communications field, centered about the question of censorship of radio programs. Terrell said his division on "one or two occasions" has been asked to listen to remarks. He mentioned station KWKH at Shreveport, La., and WHAP in New York, but did not say what report was made.

While he said there is no legal authority governing censorship, Terrell told the committee he thinks it might be an "excellent thing."

The committee has before it a bill by Chairman Coughlin to create a new Federal communications commission.

In reply to questions by Senator Wagner, Democrat, New York, about inspection of the radio apparatus on ships, Terrell said on the whole this is adequate. He also told the committee that reports of inspectors indicated there is no serious interference between stations WGY at Schenectady, N. Y., and KGO at Oakland, Cal., both of which are operated on the same frequency by an order of the Radio Commission.

While the hearing proceeded before the Senate committee, Representative Celler of New York introduced a bill providing for a commission of five members to regulate interstate telegraph and radio communication and the transmission of electrical energy.

SHIPWRECK DEATH TOLL MAY GROW

Word Awaited on Rescue After Drowning of Eleven Reported to Samoa

PAGO PAGO (American Samoa) Dec. 4. (P)—With eleven men known to have drowned in the wreck Saturday of the freighter Norwich City off Gardner Island in the Phoenix group, 700 miles north of here, word was awaited tonight of the success or failure of efforts to rescue twenty-one of her companions.

Thirty-five men were aboard the Norwich City when she piled up on a coral reef, there to be beaten to pieces by the heavy surf. A radio message from the steamer Tronget told of the rescue of three members of the wrecked steamer's crew and it is presumed they had been among the twenty-four who reached in safety the shore of the uninhabited island.

Other Authorities in Same Field Present Papers

TORONTO (Can.) Dec. 4. (P)—More than 800 scientists and physicians who use radium, X-ray and other forms of radiation in the treatment of disease were assembled here today as delegates to the fifteenth annual convention of the Radiological Society of North America and to hear, incidentally, discussions on the treatment of cancer.

Dr. Albert Solland, Los Angeles, Cal., past president of the society and secretary of the American College of Radiology, led the "Cancer Symposium." A dozen other authorities in this field presented papers on subjects, bringing out many outstanding aspects of the fight against cancer.

"The economics of cancer may well be viewed from many angles," Dr. Solland told the delegates. "Two of these, briefly considered, are the cost of medical care to the average cancer patient and, secondly, the influence of cancer upon the civic and domestic life of the afflicted."

Dr. Solland declared that while it generally is agreed that cancer in its early stage, while localized, may be successfully eradicated, the afflicted are not always fortunate enough to be located in a community offering facilities for removal of early cancer, especially by other methods than the knife.

"And what of the patient's own economic situation?" the speaker asked. "We are confronted here with the stubborn fact that treatment is both long and expensive and that the average patient is unable to pay his doctor even a reasonable fee."

As for the industrial and family life of the cancer patient, Dr. Solland declared that while most of the cases are of persons who have passed their useful life, "it is when cancer attacks a wage earner or the mother of the family that the problem becomes grave."

"We are confronted with the problem of providing properly equipped clinics," the speaker said, "available to patients of every financial status, of increasing our supply of radium and of educating the public, and to a degree the medical profession, as to the specific value of radiation treatment in addition to other means at our command. The distribution of cancer clinics should follow a well-directed, country-wide plan. The help of communities or States might be obtained in some cases. In others private aid would be forthcoming."

Government Officials Get Busy to Remedy Capital Conditions

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4. (P)—Atty.-Gen. Mitchell is studying legislative and other needs to carry out the wish of President Hoover that the national capital be made the model of city law enforcement for the nation.

His study is made as a direct result of a request from Senator Capper of Kansas, chairman of the Senate District of Columbia Committee, who said today his committee would award recommendations from the Justice Department before going ahead with the President's program.

"I do not believe we will have any trouble getting through our committee any legislative program that may be proposed for a more vigorous enforcement of the law," Capper said. "I think the Senate is ready to go to almost any length in aiding the authorities in their job of securing better enforcement of the law."

"I think this feature of the President's message is to be commended and I think the country generally approves of it and expects Congress to work along these lines."

ORTIZ RUBIO TO MEET LEADERS

New York May be Mexico Temporary Capital

High Official Group Comes for Conferences

Calles Expected to Arrive from France Soon

NEW YORK, Dec. 4. (P)—New York promises to become the temporary capital of the Mexican republic, in the opinion of observers of Mexican affairs, who believe the new Mexican Cabinet and Mexico's economic policy will be agreed upon here.

The arrival today of a group of high Mexican officials, headed by Postmaster-General Arturo Elias, was interpreted by well-informed observers here as the forerunner of a series of conferences within the next few weeks that may decide not only the completion of the new government, which takes office next year, but may also have a most important bearing on the republic's fiscal policies.

Calles Expected Soon

Gen. Plutarco Elias Calles, former President and one of Mexico's outstanding leaders, is expected in New York from France next week. President-elect Ortiz Rubio, who is en route to Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, where it is reported he will take a rest treatment, in all probability, also will come to New York later. United States Ambassador Morrow is expected in New York from Mexico City next week.

Postmaster-General Elias, former Consul-General for Mexico in New York City and half-brother of Gen. Calles, was accompanied today by a number of Mexican Governors, legislators and prominent public officials.

The party has taken headquarters at the Pennsylvania Hotel, where a large section of one floor has become Spanish-speaking for the time being. Col. Samuel C. Rojas, Mexican military attaché in Washington, has joined the party.

HUMORS OF CONFAB

There are rumors of possible financial conferences in which Thomas W. Lamont and other financiers who have been helping Mexico to regulate its foreign obligations are mentioned as likely conferees.

Mexican Cabinet-making, it was pointed out by well-informed observers, will be much easier in New York, far from the pressure of Mexican political factions, than it would be in Mexico City.

ORTIZ RUBIO GETS GREETING AT BORDER

BROWNVILLE (Tex.) Dec. 4. (P)—Pasqual Ortiz Rubio, President-elect of Mexico, crossed into the United States here today.

The President-elect and a party of twelve journeyed from Mexico City aboard a special train. They were met at Matamoros, Mex., by a small group, including Arthur H. Lane of the Mexican affairs division of the State Department at Washington.

The coaches were transferred to an American line, and after a brief stop at Brownsville the party departed for Houston and New Orleans. During his brief visit here the President-elect was greeted by Col. Van Voorhis, commander of Port Brown.

Besides his wife and three children, other members of Ortiz Rubio's party include Perez Trevino, former Governor of Coahuila and former chief of staff under President Obregon, and his wife.

In a statement given newspapermen the President-elect declared one of his chief aims will be to bring about a better understanding between the people and the governments of the United States and Mexico.

He said he believes the policies of Obregon, Calles and Portes Gil have followed the route which Mexico should take to gain the desired object of the best possible government. He declared that while he does not believe the government should stress material prosperity to the exclusion of moral and social problems, he thinks national well-being would follow official action to improve economic conditions, especially with reference to general production and an equitable distribution of wealth. This, he said, will require discipline, co-operation and a precise knowledge of the end desired.

He said the revolution has passed and his country has entered a stage entirely constructive. The forces opposing this definite attainment, he explained, have been annihilated.

"It will be useless to attempt to solve other problems of the nation before first attempting the necessity of raising the standard of living among the masses of the Mexican people," he said. "Our system of taxation will have to be based upon an exact knowledge of the conditions of our private affairs."

ORTIZ RUBIO TO BE JOHN HOPKINS PATIENT

BAITIMORE, Dec. 4. (P)—Pasqual Ortiz Rubio, President-elect of Mexico, will enter Johns Hopkins Hospital here some time in the near future, hospital officials said tonight, though they were unable to explain delay in his entrance, which originally had been planned for tomorrow or Friday.

Rubio will enter the institution for a rest, officials said, giving assurance that he is to receive treatment here, though offering no explanation of a statement made earlier in the day that no reservation had been made for him, and that no staff physician of the hospital had been in communication with him.

world toward peace and because this government intends to shape its own policy accordingly.

"In the language of the joint statement issued by the President of the United States and the Prime Minister of Great Britain on October 10 last, both our governments resolved to accept the peace pact not only as a declaration of good intentions, but as a positive obligation to direct national policy in accordance with its pledge."

"The present declaration of the authorities of Russia that they are proceeding with direct negotiations which will make possible the settlement of the conflict is not the least significant evidence to show that the public opinion of Russia is a live factor which can be promptly mobilized and which has become a factor of prime importance in the solution of problems and controversies which may arise between nations."

NATIONS PLEDGE AID

Word was received today from four nations, Mexico, Holland, Cuba and Panama, assuring the Secretary of their full co-operation in his plea for peace in the Manchurian situation, which began last summer and steadily has approached serious open warfare.

The trouble between the Nanking and Moscow governments had its beginning in the taking over by the Chinese of the Chinese Eastern Railway and the depositing of the manager and assistant manager of the line.

The addition of three Latin-American countries and one European nation to the peace effort indicated by the Secretary brought the total of the nations taking part in the move to eight, including Great Britain, France and Italy, which immediately joined the United States when the first move was made last week.

The Japanese and German governments, which had co-operated in the first plea of the major powers for peace last summer, refused to join in the present effort.

The only information which the State Department had on the Soviet and Chinese replies, which are reported now en route to Washington, was from press dispatches.

Despite the reported Soviet stand that the move by the powers had been made after negotiations for a direct settlement of the dispute between Nanking and Moscow had begun, the last authoritative information to be received here was from reliable sources at Moscow Saturday, just previous to the dis-

CHAOS IN CHINA SPREADING

Nationalist Troops Mutiny in Capital's Suburb; Reds Loot and Murder at Kanchow

SHANGHAI, Dec. 4. (AP)—A plague of war and violence gripped several sections of China today and threatened to spread, challenging the power of the Nationalist government. Large-scale mutiny of troops, wholesale murder and looting by a Communist army and armed rebellion were rampant in various parts of the young government.

The mutiny of the Twenty-fourth bandit horde known as a Communist Division of Nationalist troops at Fukow, across the Yangtze River from Nanking, the government's capital, was said by press dispatches to have been joined by 15,000 men of the division. After plundering Fukow yesterday the mutineers seized trains and departed for Pengpa, Anhwei Province, receiving acclamations on the way.

MISSION IN PERIL

Related information from the Laasur Mission at Kanchow contained in a telegram dated November 30 said: "The Reds have captured the city of Kanchow and the situation is serious." The telegram, signed by Bishop O'Shea of Philadelphia, added: "Government troops are leaving the area and we are unprotected. Appeal to the Nationalist government to send troops to prevent the troops from leaving. Ask the assistance of the American and French authorities."

The mutiny, it was reported, was brought about by the soldiers' objection to the direct negotiations between the Nanking and Moscow governments, where for days Kwangsi Province rebels, joined with the rebellious "Ironside Division," have threatened the capture of the important city of Canton.

Months of looting and violence by the American messages to Nanking and Moscow.

This information was to the effect that Soviet airplanes bombed the town of Bukutu Friday. A bombing of Bukutu, east of the Hingun Mountains, also had taken place the day before. The same dispatch stated that there was no confirmation of the reports that Mukden had agreed to establish the status of the railway to the point it had previous to the taking over by the Chinese.

CHINA AGAIN SAYS SHE WILL RELY ON PACT

SHANGHAI, Dec. 4. (AP)—The Nationalist government's Foreign Office at Nanking announced tonight that it had received a dispatch to the effect that the Soviet government had agreed to maintain a peaceful attitude, refraining from adopting hostile military actions except for self-protection, as established facts stated.

"Being cognizant to the treaty for renunciation of war, the Nationalist government circumscribed other signatories of the August 1, 1923, declaring that China would, apart from measures of self-protection and defense of territorial sovereignty and national independence, faithfully abide by the pact's Article II, and that she was ready at any time to negotiate with the Soviet government for the settlement of the present dispute."

"The Nationalist government has always reposed implicit confidence in the aforesaid treaty and has desisted from acting contrary to its spirit. It will continue to adhere to its reiterated policy."

SEMI-OFFICIAL PARIS PAPER HITS REDS

PARIS, Dec. 4. (AP)—The semi-official newspaper, Le Temps, today affirmed that Soviet Russia was "bluffing" when she signed the Paris peace pact.

In commenting on the Russian answer to the American note to Russia and China, the Temps insists that it proves that Russia is adhering to the pact wanted to create an illusion of peaceful intentions. Whereas, in the newspaper's opinion, she was really determined to continue "a policy of revolutionary imperialism."

Le Temps adds that the incident shows the worthlessness of the Russian signature in the peace treaty and the inexperience of having any official relations with the Soviets.

SOVIET TACTICS ASSAILED BY CHINESE

BERLIN, Dec. 4. (AP)—The Chinese Legation here today issued a statement declaring that Soviet Russia in its actions in Manchuria had displayed an "impossible attitude" toward the law of nations and the principles of good faith.

The statement read: "While the Chinese government, relying on Russia's acceptance of the Kellogg pact, avoided all military clashes and the national and provincial governments refrained from concentrating larger forces on the Russo-Chinese borders, Soviet troops penetrated Chinese territory without a previous declaration of war at a time when the Chinese government was engaged in quelling an internal rebellion. This is hailed by the Soviets as a brilliant military victory. It must be left to the public opinion of the world to judge such action demonstrating the impossible attitude of the Soviet government toward the law of nations and the principles of good faith."

MOSCOW REPORT OF PROTOCOL DENIED

TOKIO, Dec. 4. (Thursday) (AP)—Makden dispatches to the Japanese New Agency, Nippon, quote: "Tsun-yun-sheng, delegate of Manchuria to the negotiations with Russia over the Chinese Eastern Railway, who arrived there today, as branding as false reports from Moscow that a protocol has been signed."

LITVINOFF AIRS MOSCOW'S IRE

Red Resentment Over Notes About Pact Emphasized

Soviet Declaration Determined to Stand Firm in China

Powers' Action Assailed as Unjustified Interference

MOSCOW, Dec. 4. (AP)—Soviet resentment against notes from the powers reminding Russia of her obligations under the Kellogg anti-war pact was emphasized again tonight by Maxim Litvinoff, acting Commissar of Foreign Affairs.

He stated that this approach in no wise will influence the Soviet position with regard to the conflict with China over the Chinese Eastern Railway. He advised the powers, instead of continuing to turn their attention to affairs in their own neighborhood, to turn their attention to the situation in Russia.

The Commissar was addressing a session of the Central Executive Committee. He emphasized that the declaration of the United States and other countries to Russia is considered by the Soviet government as unjustified interference in Russian affairs.

DEALINGS WITH CHINA

"The Soviet union, unlike other countries, rejected extraterritorial rights and privileges in China," he said, "and it would seem strange why, under this circumstance, the Nanking and Mukden governments took the path of violence with provocations toward Soviet Russia."

"This is explained by the simple fact that the start and further encouragement of actions of the Nanking government originated from the imperialistic camp. The Chinese generals threw the challenge to the Soviet government only because they were backed by imperialistic powers and conscious of the Soviet union's desire for peace. Therefore, the powers encouraging the actions of Nanking should carry the collective responsibility for the Chinese-Russian conflict."

ONE REGRET VOICED

"We do not regret our refusal of extraterritorial rights and we do not blame the Chinese people for the adventurous policy of their rulers; we only regret that the Nanking government by its actions toward us gives the imperialists excuse for regarding extraterritorial rights and privileges."

Referring to activities of the Red army, Litvinoff said that continued assassinations and provocations by the Chinese had forced the Soviet soldiers to take measures which not only would drive the Chinese from the Soviet border but also would destroy nests of White guard (anti-Soviet Russian) bands located further inland.

SLAP AT POWERS

The commissar questioned the right of the United States and other signatories of the Kellogg pact for renunciation of war to assume the role of "referee" in the Kellogg pact." He advised America, Great Britain and France that they had better turn their minds toward activities in South America, wars in Chinese waters and their actions in colonial countries rather than attempt to obstruct Russo-Chinese negotiations.

He said the only source of information regarding the Sino-Russian conflict for Secretary of State Stimson was the Chinese Ambassador in Washington, "because we lack a Soviet representative in the United States who could present adequately our viewpoints."

Litvinoff stated that the interference of the signatories of the Kellogg pact is fruitless because Mukden and even Nanking finally understood that the Soviet government will not allow itself to be driven from its original position.

CONFIDENCE VOICED

"We do not intend to retreat a single inch from the minimum conditions put forth in the earlier stage of the conflict," he declared. "Believing in the correctness of our position and the strength of our Far-eastern Red army, we are sure our conditions will be fully accepted and our policy justified."

His announcement that Panama has joined the countries reminding Russia of the pact was greeted with laughter. He suggested that Panama look into whether the pact safeguards its own existence from the hands of predatory neighbors.

The speech of Litvinoff in general tone was similar to that of the identical memoranda sent last night to London, Paris and Rome in answer to their notes. The reply handed the French Ambassador the United States had an added clause in which it was said: "The Soviet government cannot help expressing its amazement at the government of the United States, which by its own will has no official relations with the Soviet, deems it possible to reply to it with advice and counsel."

PERMIT SOUGHT FOR SALE OF RIVER BOATS

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 4. (AP)—After engaging in a business of hauling freight on the Sacramento River for more than fifty years, the Central Pacific Railroad, through the Southern Pacific Company, has applied to the State Railroad Commission for permission to sell its freight steamers Cherokee and Navajo to the California Transportation Company for $50,000. The California Transportation Company, it was said, will continue to operate the two steamers in conjunction with its fleet, eliminating duplication but not affecting the present service.

CANADIANS RAISE NEWSPRINT PRICE

NEW YORK, Dec. 4. (AP)—The American Newspaper Publishers' Association today announced it had received notification from two Canadian paper companies that their price for newsprint will be increased from $55 to $60 a ton for 1930. The two companies, the St. Maurice Paper Company and the Abitibi Paper and Paper Company, Ltd., said in their letters of notification, however, that to publishers who will sign a three-year contract at the new price they will offer a discount of $5 a ton for the first six months of next year.

RED BOMBING HORRORS TOLD

American Missionary Visits Chinese Refugees

Women and Children Flee in Subzero Weather

Funds of Red Cross Used to Relieve Suffering

HARBIN, Dec. 4. (Exclusive)—Rev. Charles Leonard of the Southern Baptist mission and a member of the American Red Cross, returned to Harbin this morning from another trip along the Chinese Eastern Railway inspecting the refugee situation. He said the plight of thousands of Chinese and Russian refugees who are moving to Harbin from the Chinese-Siberian border presents a terrible situation, the awfulness of which is indescribable.

He stated that most of the people left their homes carrying only a few personal belongings; and are struggling through the snow with the temperature at 20 deg. below zero. The weaker ones, especially women and children, sometimes fall by the side of the road, exhausted, and are frozen to death shortly.

LACK OF FUNDS

He also said that the American Red Cross committee is doing everything possible to extend relief, but is hampered by the lack of funds and also by the precarious situation along the front and of the Chinese Eastern Railway, which is still visited by daily flights of Red bombing planes.

The bombing planes are constantly reconnoitering but for the last three days they have dropped no bombs. The Chinese Eastern Railway is now operating trains from Harbin as far as Chailanum, from which place the lighter trains, capable of more speed, enabling them to escape from bombs, are operated as far as Pokutu.

REDS LEAD MONGOLS

Two adventurous telegraphers managed to walk along the Chinese Eastern Railway from west of Harbin for some thirty miles from Manchuria and establish telegraphic communication. They stated that no Red troops were visible, but that the countryside is occupied by Mongol bands under the command of the Chinese delegates, Li Shao-kun and Tsai, have arrived at Harbin and the local Chinese press expresses hope of a peace conference.

The Russian emigre population at Harbin has extended a vote of thanks to the American people for the Red Cross donation which has been spent chiefly for clothing and medicine.

BUDGET TOTALS SET BY HOOVER

law in the debt principal will exceed the annual interest charges.

Coincident with the reading of the budget message in the House, the undersigned today formally for the time being, Secretary Mellon made his annual report to Congress bolstering the administration's argument for a tax cut of $180,000,000 and forecasting a bright business condition for 1931.

Keeping step with the fast-moving events of the regular session, the House Ways and Means Committee reported a resolution to carry out the tax-reduction recommendations. It will come up for action in the House tomorrow.

One of the largest items in the budget is $380,382,536 for the Navy. This is an increase of $16,999,000 over the amount spent this year. The increase is due to the construction of two new dirigibles, ammunition storage facilities, and to carry forward the fifteen-cruiser building program.

Subject to modification as a result of any limitations agreement with the conference affecting cruisers, the funds requested for the fifteen cruisers and one aircraft carrier authorized in the last Congress would be used to carry forward the program on two cruisers already laid down, for three more and the aircraft carrier to be laid down in the latter part of this fiscal year, and for the remaining five cruisers to be commenced late in the fiscal year 1931.

ARMY INCREASES

For the War Department, the total estimate is $466,626,332, including funds required for the Panama Canal. Which is an increase of more than $3,000,000 over this year's appropriations.

For both the land and sea service branches, provision is made for carrying out the five-year aviation building program, the Army being given $36,766,825 and the Navy $32,250,000.

No estimate is made of the specific amount needed for prohibition enforcement, this being covered in the total allotted to the Treasury. Neither is an estimate submitted for Boulder Dam construction. The details for the latter expenditure were not ready to time to be included in the budget figures.

A $5,000,000 increase in appropriations was asked for river-and-harbor improvements, a like rise was asked for Mississippi River flood control, and increases of $3,100,000 and $2,000,000 respectively, were proposed for Indian care and forest protection.

Congress also is informed that the Treasury will spend $56,000,000 in the present year in advancing the government building program throughout the country, and that an additional $20,000,000 will be allotted for this purpose for next year, to be followed later by another $50,000,000 appropriation request.

Mr. Jack Ratliff Tells How Cuticura Healed Eruptions.

"About five months ago eruptions started breaking out on my chest. They itched so badly that I could hardly stand them. They finally spread all over my body, and I lost my sleep on account of the continuous burning and itching. My clothing aggravated them, and sometimes I scratched until the eruptions would bleed."
"A friend advised me to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment so I purchased some, and after using two cakes of Cuticura Soap and three boxes of Cuticura Ointment I was completely healed." (Signed) Jack Ratliff, 208 So. 11th St., Marion, Iowa, April 4, 1928.

CHURCH AGENCY TO BRANCH OUT

Federal Council May Take
Member's FunctionsGreater Weight in Politics Sought by PlanDirection of Congregations
Also Coveted Power

CHICAGO, Dec. 4. (Exclusive)—The Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America may become the administrative agency of the member denominations in matters of temperance and prohibition, international relations, church architecture and some other matters. Up to the present time its constitution has made no provision for its administrative action in the affairs of its constituent churches.

A resolution was adopted tonight at the annual meeting of the executive committee of the Federal Council, held at St. James' Methodist Episcopal Church, as the first step toward an expansion of the council's powers.

POLITICAL INFLUENCE
Bishop Mays of the Evangelical Church, Harrisburg, Pa., put the value of church union daily upon a foundation of increased governmental influence. He said that the council would have greater influence on the government in prohibition and social problems if, by merger, the number of denominations, for instance, were reduced from twenty-nine to fifteen.

The resolution offered by Prof. A. W. Anthony of New York, formerly a professor at Bates College, Lewiston, Me., received unanimous approval. It authorizes the executive committee to plan for the expansion of the functions of the Federal Council through constitutional changes and by planning as to methods and details so that the council may receive administrative powers for such pieces of work and service as the denominations may delegate to it.

PROHIBITION POWERS
Prof. Anthony made no specific suggestions as to the types of work the council might receive. During the discussion it was pointed out by Bishop Mays and others that temperance or prohibition matters could thus be pushed with greater force.

It also was pointed out that smaller denominations are unable to maintain church architecture commissions. A central church architecture committee could handle the work of the council, it was held, would be of great value. Reference was made to the 1700 federated and community churches which have no denominational meetings. Administrative matters pertaining to such groups, it was suggested, could be centralized in the Federal Council.

Mrs. Leano, mother of three other children and wife of Everett Leano, Pasadena groceryman, was removed from the prison to the hospital here so that the expected child could be born outside the prison walls.

LONDON, Dec. 4. (AP)—The House of Lords today registered strong disapproval of the Labor government's efforts to resume diplomatic relations with the Soviet Union. The house voted, 43 to 21, in support of a motion introduced by Lord Birkenhead "that diplomatic recognition of the Soviet government is not desirable."

It was the second defeat for the government in the House of Lords within three days but, as in the first instance, the vote of the upper chamber was not expected to materially affect the government program. Lord Birkenhead used as his chief argument the attitude of the United States and of "Secretaries of State from Colby to Kellogg." He also accused Soviet revolutionary propaganda of "a hideous attempt to provoke... insurrections in South Africa."

Lord Thomson was the chief speaker for the government. He said the object of resuming diplomatic relations was to maintain world peace and to expand British trade.

Soon after the Japanese government was communicated with Mr. West reconsidered, having found it inadvisable to enter the diplomatic service.

VARE DEFENDS RIGHT TO SEAT

Norris Denounces Election in Strongest Language

Committee Declares Wilson
Did Not Win Race

Senate Will Vote on Two Angles of Question

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4. (AP)—The bitterly-contested campaign for the Senate from Pennsylvania in 1928 lived again today in the Senate as William S. Vare, worn by illness, defended his right to a seat after hearing himself and the politics of his State denounced by Senator Norris of Nebraska.

The Nebraskan had used the strongest language at his command in demanding adoption of his resolution to deny the oath of office to the Senator-elect.

Using a cane and accompanied by his physician, Vare slowly entered the chamber as the Republican Independent from the Northwest contended the primary and election of three years ago "reeked with dishonesty and corruption."

VARE REPLIES
The 62-year-old Pennsylvanian replied by reading a prepared statement, which defended expenditure of $100,000 for his ticket in the primary as necessary.

Looking down from the gallery was the white-haired William S. Wilson, Democratic opponent of Vare in the 1928 election, who had waged a long fight for Vare's seat. Across the chamber in the members' gallery sat Mrs. Vare and their daughter, Mrs. William Kipp. Near them was Mrs. Gifford Pinchot, whose husband, as Governor of Pennsylvania, was defeated for the Republican Senatorial nomination by Vare.

At the day ended, the Senate Elections Committee decided by a strictly party division, 7 to 4, that Vare had been elected in 1928.

The committee was unanimous in declaring that Wilson had not been elected. The Democratic minority, however, will submit a supplementary report declaring Wilson was not elected but that Vare's election was void because of fraud.

VOTE LIKELY TODAY
Tomorrow the Senate is expected to reach a vote on both the Norris resolution which would exclude Vare on account of his expenditures in the primary campaign and the Wilson-Vare election contest.

Senator Reed, Republican, Pennsylvania, forced the adjournment until tomorrow in order that the report of the Senate committee on the Wilson-Vare contest might be available to the Senate before it decides the Vare case in any instance.

Chairman Shortridge of the elections committee announced tonight that he will ask that the Senate vote on the election contest. The decision in that case will be whether Vare was legally elected or whether there was no election. No attempt is expected to be made to seat Wilson.

The decision on the Norris resolution will be whether Vare's expenditures in the three-cornered race for the Republican Senatorial nomination were excessive and whether his primary campaign was approved in fraud.

WILBURS THREATENED
Submission of the report of the long investigation into the 1928 election has been demanded by Senator Reed as prerequisite to a determination of the Norris resolution. When a final vote was sought late in the day on the Norris resolution, Reed threatened to talk until adjournment to permit submission of this report tomorrow.

Just about that time the elections committee concluded its consideration of the contest. The following seven Republicans approved the report submitted to the committee by the subcommittee: Shortridge; Watson; Indiana; Waterman, Colorado; Owen, New Hampshire; Blewett, Oregon; Glenn, Illinois; and Hastings, Delaware.

The following four Democrats voted against the report declaring Vare elected: Caraway, Arkansas; George, Georgia; Bratton, New Mexico; and Connally, Texas.

WATERMAN IN CHARGE
Senator Waterman, Republican, Colorado, was chairman of the subcommittee which made the investigation and submitted the report. Senators Bratton and Caraway of the subcommittee tonight prepared a supplementary report declaring that Wilson failed to obtain a majority of legal votes but that Vare's election must be declared void on account of fraud.

Senator Norris carried on the attempt to exclude Vare single handed, but those ready to vote against the Philadelphia Republican leader were confident of the votes to beat him and appeared content to reach a roll call.

After Senator-elect Vare had read his statement, requiring about twenty minutes for delivery, Senator Reed bitterly assailed those who would exclude Vare on account of the $175,000 campaign fund, and denied vigorously the charge of Senator Norris that the Pennsylvania campaign "reeked with dishonesty and corruption."

GLASS ISSUES CHALLENGE
After Reed had declared that some States have regarded the Fourteenth and Fifteenth amendments to the Constitution, relating to suffrage, as "scraps of paper," Senator Glass, Democrat, Virginia, denied that his State violated the amendments and challenged anyone who thought so to seek the expulsion of the Virginia Senators.

Senator Norris shouted that Tammany Hall, compared with the Vare machine, is a "white-robed angel."

Denouncing the payment of watchers at the polls in Pennsylvania, Norris said he cannot conceive of a man "running for office spending $100,000 to employ watchers in one city alone unless he wanted to buy the election."

Reed insisted that the employment of watchers at the polls in Pennsylvania is an old custom sanctioned by law, although he said it is a practice which makes it very hard for poor men to run for office.

COSTS COMPARED
In his statement, Vare compared the costs of his primary campaign to those per vote and per district in other States in the last election in the years to come.

"HONESTLY ELECTED"

"I come before you," Vare said, "with the honest conviction that over three years ago I was regularly, legally and honestly nominated and elected by the people of Pennsylvania as their representative in the United States Senate."

"For fifteen years I sat as a member of the lower house of Congress. There was never a reflection on my character or the service I rendered to my country and my constituents. During all of my political career I have never been accused of any crime."

"I have tried to lead an upright life both socially and politically. I have never asked any man or woman to do an illegal act in my election. I have never participated in any political juggling."

"I never stole an election, nor have I ever asked anyone to make a false return or to change any election records to decide a close contest in my favor. In fact, I would never commensurate any such action and I have always used all of my influence against such practices."

"SURVEY INCOMPLETE"
"There is only one report before you concerning my election and that is based on an incomplete survey of election records made by paid investigators who for years had been employed by my political enemies in Philadelphia. The man who is responsible for that report of your special investigation committee was paid $10,000 to do the job."

"The report for which he alone is responsible and which your committee accepted in good faith is not an impartial statement of facts with which this body usually deals but it is a fabrication of the wildest theories, inferences and imagination, unaccompanied by any proof and under no circumstances can be substantiated."

"In fact, I am informed by my attorneys that the charges are proven to be absolutely false."

"One of the charges was that there were 2018 persons who voted in Philadelphia but who were not registered. The facts are that all but thirty-three of these 2018 persons were duly and legally registered. Why they even charge that in 40 per cent of the election districts the election boards were comprised of only enrolled Republicans, and yet that is entirely legal as the law does not require minority representation on election boards."

ALL ONE PARTY
"In fact, there are many districts in Philadelphia where the entire enrollment is Republican, just as, I suppose, there are districts in other counties in Pennsylvania and in other States where the electorate are entirely of the Democratic faith."

"In many districts in the South thousands of Democratic votes are cast and not one Republican vote. Why? There are no Republicans there! How could they vote in those districts? These are just some typical examples of the way in which these conclusions which my political enemies have tried to have you believe were facts."

"Is my election or my right to a seat in this Senate to be judged and decided upon such reports? Are you with whom I have been associated all these years in Congress to pass judgment on me without giving me my 'day in court'?"

"I prefer to believe not one of you wants to do an unfair thing—surely party prejudice and self-interest will not allow you to condemn anyone on false testimony."

LESS THAN OFFENSE
Vare said the expenditure of his ticket in the Republican primary were about one-third of those of his principal opponent.

"Am I to be condemned," he continued, "because without a newspaper, with the State organization and my friends we were compelled to spend one-third of what our principal opponents spent in bringing the issues of the campaign to the 4,000,000 voters of the State?"

"There are Senators sitting on this floor today whose election last November cost more per vote, more per capita and more per voting district than the expenditures of the Vare-Bedleman ticket in the Pennsylvania primary in 1928."

"This matter concerns the rights of the people of a sovereign State who, by a majority of nearly 200,000 votes selected me as its representative in the Senate. The trust that they reposed in me I cannot betray even in view of the lasting injury it may mean to my health in the years to come."

CHAIN STORES PUSH CLAIMS

Point to Depression-Proof Character of Systems Selling Groceries, Variety Goods, Drugs, Etc.

BY KARLE E. CROWE

Among the so-called depression-proof stocks the claims of the chain-store and mail-order companies are worthy of consideration by prospective investors in common stock equities. The business of most of these companies seldom fails to show a satisfactory annual increase in sales, since consumers must buy their groceries, their drugs, household goods, tobacco, etc., in good times or bad.

Mail-order companies distribute mainly in the agricultural districts where the recession from the stock market crash has hardly been felt. Of late the mail-order companies have been expanding actively into the opening of retail department stores, and possibly the sales from these ventures will be sufficient to offset the loss of the mail-order business in the purchasing activity.

BUSINESS IN LOCAL FIELD HELD SOUND

Security-First National November Survey Notes Conditions Healthy

Despite the chaotic condition which prevailed in the stock market, industry and trade in Los Angeles and Southern California generally proceeded in a healthy and orderly manner during November with the indices of business such as the bank deposits showing increases in most cases.

At no time has the factory of this manufacturer been overstocked. The November demand has been very heavy from the distributors throughout the United States and Canada. It has necessitated a doubling of the production. So the number of employees has been gradually increased.

Atwater Kent Doubles Output; Fur Garment Dealer Reports Two Cancellations Since Stock Drop

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR

(Copyright, 1929, by the North American Newspaper Alliance.)

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—Much has been said about the stock market break and its probable effect on the sale of radios. To many people a radio is still a luxury. But to thousands of others—farmers living away from the bright lights, for instance—it has become a part of their lives, a necessity.

I asked Atwater Kent of Philadelphia, big manufacturer of radio equipment, just how the stock market drop had affected his business. "It has had a 100 per cent increase in production," was his reply.

AN OUTSTANDING BARGAIN IN FIRST MORTGAGE UTILITY BONDS

RECENTLY an investor came to us and said, "I'm tired of speculation. I have some funds to invest and would like a sound first mortgage utility bond which will keep my principal intact and yield a reasonable fixed return."

After a thorough study, we selected an exceptionally attractive bond, which from every angle was selling decidedly out-of-line. The issue was less than a 33% first mortgage on the Company's properties, where as most utility bonds are 55% to 75% liens.

Earnings were over three times interest charges. And the yield was 6.15%, as against 5% to 5 1/2% for similar issues.

TWO TESTS to apply to every Investment Trust

AN investment trust either stands or falls on the two following premises: First, the ability to invest the public's money more securely and with better judgment than the individual could do for himself. Second, has it done equally as well or better than other investment trusts in the field?

Note how well Reliance International Corporation meets both of these tests. At the beginning of the recent market break, the trust had the majority of its funds in cash. Securities were bought near the low of the market. In fact, on November 20th, the total depreciation on the company's holdings of stocks was less than 9%; and it is likely that the rise in prices since that time has reduced this ratio. On the other hand, Standard Statistics' averages of 90 leading New York stocks showed a decline of approximately 46%.

In other words, Reliance International Corporation fared at least five times better than the individual investor. Another survey made by the Boston News Bureau of leading investment trusts reports declines of from 37% to 90% and averaging between 50% and 60%. So we see that Reliance International Corporation did four to ten times as well as other trusts in the field. What better proof is there of the ability of its management. Its portfolio now includes many issues purchased at bargain prices and it is in a position to profit tremendously from the future development of American business and prosperity. We recommend this stock for sound and profitable investment.

MACKAY AGAIN TO TAKE STAND

Ex-Keyes Aide Will Resume Testimony Today

Defense Strives to Rebut Getzoff Statements

"Bribe" Money Really Fees, Witnesses Declare

Donald Mackay, chief trial deputy district attorney during the regime of Asa Keyes, is scheduled to resume his testimony in his own defense today in Superior Judge Wilson's court, where he is on trial on a charge of bribery.

Mackay, who was first called to the witness stand Tuesday, is charged with accepting a bribe from Ben Getzoff, spring-street tailor, to dismiss criminal charges preferred that year against A. I. Lasker, former head of the Lasker Finance Corporation.

OTHERS CALLED
The former prosecutor did not take the witness stand yesterday, as Defense Attorney Richard Cantillon called a number of other defense witnesses whose testimony he desired to put into the record before concluding with Mackay.

Most of the day was spent by the defense seeking to rebut Getzoff's testimony that he bought Mackay, paid of Mackay's note for $1000 and advanced Mackay's brother $500, all in consideration for the dismissal of the charges against Lasker.

Among the defense witnesses were Judge McLucas of Superior Court, a character witness, and A. W. Thompson and Al McDonald, attorneys for Getzoff at the latter's trial with Asa Keyes on a charge of bribery.

PART OF FEE, THEY SAY
Through Thompson and McDonald, the defense sought to show that the money Getzoff was supposed to have used as a bribe for Mackay really was given by Getzoff to his attorney, part of their fee for defending him.

Thompson testified Getzoff gave him and his associate some cash, a note and an automobile. The automobile, Getzoff had testified, was purchased by him as a present for Keyes, but the latter returned it to him and he in turn gave it to his attorneys as part of their fee.

Mackay extends the note given by Getzoff to his attorneys is the one the State charges Getzoff paid for Mackay as part of the asserted bribe.

"BUSINESS DEAL"
The balance of the afternoon session was consumed by renewed defense efforts to show that the $500 Getzoff testified he advanced to Olin Mackay was strictly part of a business deal between Getzoff and the former prosecutor's brother, and had nothing to do with Mackay's action in the Lasker case.

A large part of the defense testimony was blocked by objections from Chief Deputy District Attorney Stewart and Deputy William McKay, who are prosecuting. Their objections were based principally on the theory that the defense offers of proof were immaterial to the issues of the case.

Defense Attorney Cantillon announced the defense probably will conclude its case today. It is regarded as possible that the case will be submitted to the jury some time tomorrow, although court attaches are of the opinion that arguments to the jury will delay such action until next week.

PEDESTRIAN LOSES MONEY TO BANDITS

Two bandits early Tuesday night held up and robbed D. C. Morrill of $5000 Converse street of about $4 as he was walking toward home on Sixty-second street, between Miramonte Boulevard and Converse street, according to a report to the Sheriff's office.

After threatening Morrill with a pistol and going through his pockets, the men ordered him to proceed toward Converse street, while they fled in the opposite direction, according to the report. A $5 bill in a wallet in Morrill's pocket was overlooked, the report stated.

PARROT SAVES HER MISTRESS

"Help," Brings Aid to Injured Woman

Mrs. Mildred Bumann and Maggie

MAGGIE, the parrot in the home of Mrs. Mildred Bumann at 1411 1/2 West Eleventh street, learned a new word yesterday, and thereby became a heroine.

Mrs. Bumann, while sewing, caught the index finger of her left hand under the needle of her sewing machine. Because of a broken mechanism she was unable to release it. Suffering acute pain she cried repeatedly for help, but apparently to no one heard.

Then Maggie, who had been watching her mistress from a caged perch, suddenly shrieked forth the word "Help." Again and again her screams rang shrilly. Pedestrians in the street rushed in and aided the stricken woman.

Part of the sewing machine was taken apart and Mrs. Bumann was sent to the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital, where emergency treatment was given her by Police Surgeon Jacob.

Kubach Estate Mostly Willed to Daughters

The late Christian J. Kubach, contractor who built the Los Angeles City Hall, left most of his large estate to his two daughters, Rose C. Denker, 978 Westmoreland place, and Sophia K. Oliver, 1261 South Alvarado street, it was disclosed when his will was filed for probate yesterday.

Although no value was set on the estate, large holdings in the C. J. Kubach Co., the K. & K. Co., the Moreland Truck Company and real estate in Los Angeles and San Diego counties was listed.

Burns of $1000 were bequeathed to George H. Snyder and Richard J. O. Oliver, executors for "such charitable purposes as they see fit." Richard J. O. Oliver, son-in-law and attorney of record, was left $10,000, in addition.

MANY DOG EXPERTS WILL ATTEND SHOW
Virtually every authority on canine matters living on the Pacific Coast will attend the Los Angeles Kennel Club's thirteenth annual exhibition, Saturday and Sunday in Ambassador Auditorium, according to announcements of club officials yesterday. The gathering, it is said, will be the largest meeting of dog experts yet held west of New York City. Several discussions on the rearing of finer blooded dogs of various kinds are scheduled. Preparations have been made for displaying more than 1000 dogs of eighty-seven different varieties.

The show, due to its magnitude, has assumed international interest. Jack Bradshaw, club secretary, said, and has received comment in many European dog publications.

THE LANCER

A VISITOR FROM GUAM
To judge from the out-of-State licensees there cannot be anybody left—either in Colorado or Washington—except the janitor. The most thrilling license plate I have seen on the road was a big pasteboard home-made card labeled "Guam." It was a Ford driven by a sailor.

"AMNESIA VICTIM"
The other word that headline writers always add to "amnesia" is "victim," but the gent with the amnesia is not the victim. If you have ever tried to collect house rent you will have discovered that a chronic loss of memory is a common affliction.

DEATH CROSSINGS
Six dead as a result of trying to beat a Santa Fe train across a track. If you have ever ridden in an automobile with a railroad man at the wheel you will have noticed that he stops so early that a baby would have time to cross the track on his hands and knees. No railroad man ever gets gay with a locomotive on a track. He knows.

MISSING FILIPINO SOUGHT
Agaton S. other is for 63.2 acres and was granted to the United Midway Oil Land Company and later acquired by Pan-American from that concern.

CONSOLIDATION LEASES
It was brought out that each of these leases adjoints a lease granted to the respective companies under competitive bidding, with the consideration in each case being a royalty of 55.5 per cent of the oil produced. On November 22, 1921, it was established, both companies asked the Interior Department to reduce the royalty to a sliding one of from 12.5 to 25 per cent according to grade. Finney testified that he recommended against granting the reduction.

On the following December 14, however, these companies were granted the strip leases now under attack and the royalty fixed in the strip leases was 12.5 to 25 per cent. It is the government's contention that this was done to equalize the losses which the companies had asserted they were suffering because of the 55.5 per cent royalty on the adjoining leases, but the defendants will maintain that it was done to protect the acreage covered in the first leases from drainage by wells outside the reserve.

LOYAL KNIGHTS TO MEET
A district conference of the Loyal Knights of the Round Table was announced for Saturday at the Breakers Hotel, Long Beach. Los Angeles will be represented by Frank Waller, president, and Joe Clemmons, secretary. Harry Stauffer, district governor, will preside, and Max Binheim, international extension director, will discuss objectives.

TEACHER SUE OVER FLOGGING

the family automobile after Mrs. Welch had told him Jack was too ill to attend school.

"She told me Jack had been subjected to some corporal punishment at school, that he had had convulsions and had been very sick and was unable to attend school," Tranquada declared.

"Then, just as I was leaving, I saw Jack drive into the yard with the family automobile. When I said something about the boy being able to drive Mrs. Welch said he had been helping his father."

BOY TELLS STORY
According to the testimony of the student he received the whipping for blurring out something during class on two occasions.

The last occasion, he said, was when he was a member of a class in biology, when the pupils were studying a rose. He failed to understand something the teacher said and blurted out a question which caused the other members of the class to laugh.

The teachers, on the other hand, declared that the punishment was given following numerous complaints lodged against Jack after he had repeatedly promised to do better. In other words, it came as the culmination of a long series of violations in the shape of "cracking" in classes and other infractions of the school's rules relative to deportment of pupils.

Prof. Lyon testified that Jack never flinched when the whipping was being administered. Following the whipping pupil and teacher shook hands, according to the testimony.

CHRISTMAS FESTIVITIES GIVE JOBS TO THOUSANDS

All the beautiful downtown decorations have been paid for without cost to the citizens and the construction work necessary for all the preholiday activities in the central business district has given employment to thousands of persons, said E. C. Mitchell, secretary of the Christmas Festival Committee, yesterday.

"We have had innumerable inquiries as to the source of the finances for the wonderful ornamentation downtown," said Mitchell. "The money has been subscribed voluntarily by property owners, stores, hotels, theaters, restaurants, banks, public utilities and various other community-spirited individuals and organizations desiring to create a Christmas atmosphere in the center of the city that would be worthy of Los Angeles."

"The praise that has been received through letters and telephone messages has been most gratifying. I believe all Southern California has reason to be proud of the co-operative spirit which has made this series of spectacles possible."

Name of Sweetheart Brought Into Murder Case

Under a weird hallucination that he was being killed by a mysterious poison, Armando Boitars, a 34-year-old truck driver of San Fernando, yesterday confessed that he murdered the five members of the Alvarez-Carria family of San Fernando, and buried four of the bodies in Bootlegger Canyon and the fifth near Azusa, William J. Bright, chief of the Sheriff's homicide division, announced last night.

The suspect was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Bright's office, after he calmly recounted his admitted crime, and brought into the murder case the name of a woman, Guadalupe, 30, of 11081 West Vanowey street, San Fernando. Both were booked in the County Jail on a charge of murder.

Truck Driver Confesses Slaying Alvarez-Garcia Family of Five and Burying Bodies

into Murder Case

After a week of hallucination that he was being killed by a mysterious force, Armando Boltares, a truck driver, yesterday confessed that he had slain the family of five members of the Alvarez-Garcia family of San Fernando, and buried the bodies in a canyon near the city.

HE ADMITS KILLING FAMILY FOR GRUDGE

Armando Boltares

Charles Alvarez, 18 years of age, was found in the canyon near San Fernando Thanksgiving Day. The following day, at the same place, deputies found the remains of Mrs. Helena Alvarez-Garcia, and her two children, Carmelita, 12, and Elias, 6. Last Sunday the body of

SIDEWALK STOP
SIGNALS USED

System Put in Operation On Downtown Corners To Curb Pedestrians

Pedestrians in the downtown district yesterday were introduced to a system of sidewalk stop zones established to eliminate congestion at intersections.

Stop signs were placed on a line with the edges of buildings. Officers on each corner demonstrated to crowds how north and southbound pedestrians can keep the corners clear for those walking east or west by halting at the lines in accordance with the traffic signal bells and lights.

The officers will not be on duty today, but Deputy Chief Clifford of the police department requests those visiting the metropolitan section to observe the new system.

During the Christmas rush to the shopping area Clifford also requests motorists not to make turns if their doing so will cause congestion in pedestrian traffic.

Luciano Garcia, the husband and stepfather, was found in a shallow grave a mile south of Asana.

Discovery of the bodies plunged the case in deep mystery until deputies found a neighbor of the Garcia in Griffith street, San Fernando, who told of seeing the family leave in a truck with a mysterious man on October 2 last.

By that slender thread the officers arrived at the home of Miss Gutierrez. A man of similar description to that seen in Griffith street with the Garcia has been seen about the Gutierrez home, and after a time the woman identified him as Boltares.

SOLUTION GIVEN
His arrest followed shortly, and before Capt. Bright, coldly and without a quiver, he gave quick solution to the puzzling death mystery.

Boltares, according to Bright, said several months ago he had $1400 in a bank, and while living at the Garcia home, Mrs. Garcia induced him to withdraw the money and bring it to their house.

While the $1400 lay under his mattress, Boltares said his life constantly was in danger, many efforts were made to rob him, and at last, he asserted, they tried to destroy him with slow poison in his food.

He planned a counter-campaign of vengeance, he told Capt. Bright, and after months of deliberation, during which time he had moved from the Garcia home, he decided to kill the entire family.

On October 9, his statement says, he drove to the Garcia home, told Mrs. Garcia he could dig up a gallon of wine in Bootleggers' Canyon and induced her and the children to go there in his truck. Charles followed in a roadster he recently had purchased.

KILLINGS DESCRIBED
Just at twilight on that day in the wild stretches of the animal-ridden arroyo, Boltares said he had Charles leave the car and go where the wine was supposed to be hidden.

"When he stooped over to dig for the wine," Boltares said through an interpreter, "I hit him with a shovel I carried, and he rolled over dead."

"Then I went back down the canyon and told Mrs. Garcia Charles needed help. When she came up, I hit her with the shovel, too, and she fell."

"Carmelita began screaming and fighting me, so I had to hit her. Then the little one began whimpering and I killed her."

After attempts to bury the bodies of the woman and two children, Boltares took some accessories from Charles's car and drove in his truck to Asana where Miss Gutierrez then was living, he said.

Garcia, meantime, missing his wife and children, began a search. He had a friend, Manuel Flores, drive him to Asana in a truck.

ANOTHER KILLING
Boltares said he thought Garcia would go to Asana, so he waited. When he found him there on October 14, Boltares told Garcia he could find the latter's family and with his truck drove him to Rabbit Acres.

"When we got there," Boltares said, "I asked him if he had a gun."

"He said, 'no.'"

"Well," Boltares quoted himself, "that's too bad. I am going to kill you."

"Then quickly I shot him in the head and buried him."

DAM SITES TO BE SOUGHT

Engineer Eaton Today Will Ask Supervisors for $25,000 to Conduct San Gabriel Survey

Diversions of $25,000 of the fund left out of the $25,000,000 bond money for building the San Gabriel dam, condemned by the State Engineer, will be asked of the Board of Supervisors today, by Flood Control District Engineer Eaton for exploration of other dam sites in the canyon and its branches.

According to a recent opinion by Flood Control Council Dows the Board of Supervisors, by a four-fifths vote, can divert bond money voted for a certain project to other projects in the same watershed, if for any reason it is impossible to carry out the original scheme.

The flood-control district already has spent $3,700,000 at the forks site of the San Gabriel River. For the huge excavation for the foundation the contractors, Fisher, Rose MacDonald & Kahn, were paid more than $1,800,000.

In a recent report to the Board of Supervisors, Engineer Eaton suggested in place of the 450-foot dam that was condemned, a smaller flexible type dam at the fast-shifting forks site, smaller dams in canyon branches, check dams and reforestation in the upper reaches of the mountains. To begin preliminary work in these flood-control works Engineer Eaton is asking funds.

No opposition to this plan of action is anticipated, it was said yesterday.

POWER NOT DEPENDENT ON RAINFALL

Lakes of Edison Company Contain Plenty of Water, President Declares

With an unusually large quantity of water in storage reservoirs for this time of the year, coupled with a large steam plant capacity with an additional generator under construction, drought conditions prevailing in the western States will in no way curtail the power supply of the Southern California Edison Company, according to R. H. Ballard, president.

By taking advantage of abundant and low-priced natural gas which has been used as fuel in its steam plants, the company has conserved water in its storage reservoirs, Mr. Ballard said. Huntington Lake is 68 per cent full and 14,500 acre feet remain in Florence and Shaver lakes.

The water now in storage, together with our steam plants, will furnish plenty of power to meet all requirements," Mr. Ballard said. "This will be possible without any kind of whatsover, which is impossible. We will continue to supply two-thirds of the current distributed by the Los Angeles Bureau of the Edison Company."

Street Vender Again Ordered to Jail Cell

Chandler Recently Was Fined $1000 and Sentenced to Jail for Six Months

Dan Chandler, patent-medicine vendor, was sentenced to serve ninety days in jail by Municipal Judge Bogue yesterday following his conviction by a jury of outraging public decency by telling obscene stories to a crowd of prospective purchasers of his medicine.

Although he was not present at the time of his sentence, Chandler later appeared in court with his attorney, Griffith Jones, and filed notice of appeal, on which the court set bail of $500.

Chandler recently was fined $1000 and sentenced to jail for six months by Judge Bogue after he had been convicted of similar charges and disturbing the peace. The sentence yesterday was ordered by the court to run concurrently with the previous one, on which Chandler already has posted $1500 appeal bond.

RULING MADE IN DEED SALE

Bond with Power of Disposal Not Mortgage

Decision in Santa Barbara Case of Wide Effect

Precedent Obtained on Debt Securing Conveyance

A bond trust deed with power of sale is not a mortgage, in the opinion of Superior Judge Yanovich, who yesterday handed down a decision in the case of the La Aracada Company against the Bank of America of California, Leo G. MacLaughlin and others. The ruling is of interest to all persons in financial circles who hold building bonds or who finance the construction of big buildings.

The plaintiff in the action had been the owner of property in Santa Barbara on a portion of which stood the La Aracada Building.

PROPERTY SOLD

November 1, 1935, the prior owner of the property involved, Hattie O. Stockton, executed a trust indenture, naming the Bank of America as trustee, to obtain a bond for $475,000. The plaintiff acquired the property November 1, 1935.

Failure to pay the interest due May 1, last, caused the Bank of America, as trustee in the trust indenture, June 24, last, to declare all the bonds due. The property was sold July 29, last, for $320,000 to Leo G. MacLaughlin, Henry E. Sherr and B. C. McCabe, three men who represented a committee of bondholders. The deed was made to the Citizens National Trust & Savings Bank as trustee for the bondholders.

In the suit the plaintiff sought a declaration that the trust deed was, in reality, a mortgage and that the La Aracada Company had the right to redeem the property within one year.

PRESIDENT SET

"I am satisfied," said Judge Yanovich in announcing his decision, "that the invalidity of the sale has been shown. The sale was legally conducted and was for cash. I am also of the opinion that the instrument, considered as a whole, is a trust deed and not a mortgage. Where, to secure a debt, a conveyance with power of sale is made the instrument is a trust deed and title passes to the trustee. It is true that the instrument here is, in fact, all instruments of this character, contains provisions relating to mortgages, pledges, liens and the like. But such provisions are merely additional rights which are inserted for the benefit of the lender and sometimes the borrower. They constitute additional safeguards which do not destroy the character of the instrument as a trust deed. Of this nature are the provisions in this instrument."

Judge Yanovich's ruling sets a precedent and as many trust indentures in use in Southern California have provisions similar to those in the instrument which the judge interpreted, the effect of the decision is wide, it is pointed out in legal circles.

MRS. BETTS'S FUNERAL TO TAKE PLACE TODAY

Funeral services for Mrs. Josephine M. Betts, wife of Rev. Charles H. Betts, assistant pastor of the First Methodist Church of Hollywood, will be conducted at the church at 2 p.m. today under the direction of W. M. Strother, Hollywood mortician. Interment will be in Forest Lawn Memorial Park. Mrs. Betts was 72 years of age. She resided at 1837 North Orange Grove avenue.

CITY PLANNERS RATIFY QUARRY

months' battle in what President Baker of the commission called "the biggest zoning case ever tried in the United States," came suddenly and rather abruptly. The commission had been in closed session the greater part of the day. Later in the open session routine business matters occupied the attention of the commission until approximately 4:30 o'clock, when President Baker announced that they were ready to act on the Mountain Park Company permit.

"I move that the permit be granted," said Commissioner Thomas. His motion was inclusive of the ten conditions given above. Without discussion roll call quickly followed and almost immediately the commission adjourned.

TO COUNCIL NOW

As a matter of course the question will be referred to the City Planning Commission of the Council, of which Councilman Webster is chairman and Councilmen Holland and Randall are members. The committee will hold its regular meeting at 1:30 p.m. Monday in the City Council chamber. The meeting is open to the public. It was indicated that if the secretary of the commission should wait a week until the majority and minority reports had been formulated the procedure would be the same. Had the report been against the petition it would have taken a two-thirds majority of the City Council to pass it over the head of the Planning Commission, attorneys stated yesterday.

"Anything in future proceedings must of necessity be said to the City Council," said Thorwald Sings, attorney for the Pacific Palisades, protestants. "The granting of the request shows that while thousands of people voiced their protests there were hundreds of thousands who were asleep to the great threat to the future of Los Angeles embodied in the quarry project."

The hearing was a lengthy one, lasting from February 28 until the latter part of November.

More than 100 witnesses were examined in the long-drawn-out commission battle. Hundreds of maps and exhibits were placed in evidence and experts from all parts of the country were called upon to testify their testimony.

Property owners, engineers, real estate men and capitalists appeared both for and against the proposition, which in brief was to establish a cement rock quarry on 497 acres in Santa Ynez Canyon, which lies north of Beverly Boulevard and a few miles back from the sea.

ENGAGING SECRETARY TOO MUCH FOR WIFE

When Lewis A. Wetzel told his wife he loved another woman she thought it was an idle boast until he hired the other woman as a secretary, Mrs. Mattie H. Wetzel testified yesterday before Superior Judge Westover when asking the court to grant her a divorce.

"Once we were invited to a party at the home of mutual friends and the first thing my husband did when he got there was to begin making love to another woman," she testified.

The wife also accused the husband of being addicted to intoxicating liquors. A decree was granted. The couple married in 1915 and separated in 1928.

B. P. SCHULBERG CASTS ACTORS

Edwin Carow Stated to Head Pathe Forces, Report; Duncans Go East for Vaudeville—Write Songs; Leatrice Joy Ready to Sign With R-K-O.

BY GRACE KINGSLEY
 Mystery plays continue to hold the center of the public eye nowadays, and one of the best acts of B. P. Schulberg when he arrived from New York last evening, after a long vacation spent in Europe, was to assign Warner Oland to the featured role in a mystery story now being written by certain members of the Paramount staff, and which is as yet untitled.

And just to show that he hasn't forgotten his happy faculty for assigning the right people to the right parts, he also designated two of Paramount's most accomplished juveniles for roles in two mystery plays.

Neil Hamilton has hardly had time to label and put away his snapshots taken during his European trip ere Schulberg has assigned him to the juvenile role in the Oland picture.

Phillips Holmes, also, was given a nice juvenile lead. He will play that role in "The Benson Murder Case," William Powell's second starring vehicle. He lately distinguished himself by his work in several Paramount features.

Lothar Mendes is to direct "The Benson Murder Case," and Eugene Pallette will again play the role he essayed in "The Canary Murder Case," that of Sgt. Hest.

CAREWE WILL FILL HIGH PATHE POST

Indirectly, but from a high official in picturedom, it is learned that it is quite likely that Edwin Carow will assume "writing" duties of director-general of the Pathe stock company, which is now being reorganized.

Edwin Carow, of course, still remains a picture actor, but he is now being signed, but they probably will be within a few days, according to our informant.

Carow has lately, within the last few years, won an enviable position for himself in the picture world. "Ravens," "Resurrection," "Ranoma," all starring Edwin Carow, have been his greatest successes. Finis Fox wrote the script for these stories.

The director has been under contract to United Artists, but lately finished with that concern.

Virginia Bruce Wins Role Golden-haired Virginia Bruce, the little North Dakota girl who intended to enter college in Los Angeles, but who became a motion picture player instead, has received her first big chance. She has been given an important role in support of Evelyn Brent in "Slightly Scarlet."

Mrs. Bruce has played small parts in "Woman Trap" and "The Love Parade," in both of which she gave such a good account of herself that her promotion was inevitable.

Duncans in Chicago Those lively Duncan sisters, Rosetta and Vivian, simply couldn't sit down and twiddle their thumbs while they waited for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, to whom they are under contract, to decide on a story for them.

Instead, they packed up their best stage dresses and left for Chicago Tuesday night. They will play a couple of weeks of vaudeville in Chicago as a New York treat.

Glady's McConnell Writes A lively letter reaches us from Glady's McConnell, who, you remember, went over to Honolulu to play the feminine lead in a picture being made with Hawaiian capital. Hugh Allen is playing the masculine lead.

"The boy Hugh and I are having a great time," writes Glady's. "We have worked nearly every day. Yesterday, in the water, I can stand on a surf board all ready, but the outrigger canoes are the greatest thrill."

"It is like California here, only warmer. I had to have sleeveless dresses made just when I was all set for fall clothes."

"Virginia Valli has been here, playing in the stock company, the first week we were here—in 'The Marriage Bed,' and was very good. The public liked her very much, indeed."

"Hugh met with an accident the other day. He tried a fancy back dive and hit his head, cutting it open, but he is all right today."

"As for me, I have a beautiful cold on my knee. It seems cold and is painful, but the cut just won't heal up."

"The scenery is gorgeous, and so are the pineapple and coconuts. I have eaten enough of the two last named to feed an army, but they are so much better here."

"We all want to be remembered to Hollywood. Expect to be home for Christmas."

YOUTHFUL CARMEN IS ATTRACTION

Luisa Caselotti Appears in Bizet Opera; Paggi and Piccaluga Please

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT
The assumption that the world of music followers is always watching for a new Carmen, and that incidentally they love the opera by Georges Bizet, whoever may sing its title role, was borne out last evening by the large attendance at the third performance of the Columbia Grand Opera Company. The French lyric drama of gypsy love was the attraction at the Biltmore Theater, and brought the fore a girl reputedly still in her teens as the Sevillian siren. To Miss Luisa Caselotti's credit it was she who appeared as the Carmen—may it be said that she came through the test of fire with no small accumulation of laurels, and though her Carmen was more a conscientious effort than an actual accomplishment, she evinced marked promise in various phases of the portrayal. Carmen is a high rampant in music for any singer to attempt, and she sang it with a youthful and dramatic intensity that makes the utmost demands, and its highest requirement of all is a terrifically dominating personality. Miss Caselotti brought beauty to the role, and spirit to various of the scenes, but it was her voice that gave her the other fulfillments that are necessary for the interpretation. Her voice at times was very pleasing in quality; again it fell short of the desirable fullness and richness, mainly because she seemed to cover her tones too much. One craved brilliance at moments when it was not there, as well as that assurance which is so vital to the Carmen portrayal. These Miss Caselotti lacked, but her youth and her earnest effort went far toward making an appeal. Of the popular airs in this opera she was at her best in the "Habenera" and the second act excerpt with the dance. The "Bouffons" was rather well done by her, but the Card Song failed of distinction. All due credit must be accorded her, though, for the attractive impression that she made, and the unusual and clever ingenuity that she displayed, particularly in the garbing of the role. In the last act, especially with lace shawl and dress of carmine shade, did she present a radiant stage picture. Here, too, she rose to a real height in her enacting of the role, and received a notable tribute of applause for this, in company with Nino Piccaluga, the Don Jose. Alberto Condi, as conductor, gave an exceedingly interesting and lively interpretation of the "Carmen" score. Chorus bits were well sung, and such principals as Mr. Piccaluga, Tina Paggi and also Claudio Frigerio all supported the musical interest most satisfactorily.

Bill Brenner Says Good-by to Vaudeville

BY WILLIAM HAMILTON CLINE
Friday night Bill Brenner will quit his one and only job of a lifetime. After thirty years at the stage doorkeeper of the Orpheum—where he has officiated ever since there was an Orpheum in Los Angeles—he will turn in his uniform, hand over his keys, and leave his post for aye. Bill doesn't know what he'll do next. He is like a man in a daze. He hasn't any other trade, profession or calling. And now there will be no stage door at the Orpheum, and no need of a keeper thereof. Simply, Bill is done. And while the years have passed somewhat lightly over Bill's bald head, there is a stoop to his shoulders. Bill is not young these days. As a matter of fact, his only absence from the stage was when he fought in the Philippines; he's a veteran of 1898. That's going back some, too. It would take a volume to list merely by name the vaudevillians who have known Bill in his thirty-five years of service. They all came and went past the portals he guarded—the greatest and the least; they came to him for their keys and their mail; they told him their triumphs and their woes; he has straightened out many a kink in many a life of seeming joy, and staunchly many a tear on faces which publicly were only smiles. Literally thousands have grasped his hand in greeting and farewell, as they opened and closed their engagements here. In point of service, he is the one person still at the theater who was there when it was first opened here—December 31, 1894, at First and Main. He is, perhaps, the story of vaudeville in Los Angeles. He has no peers. If Bill Brenner would write a book, it would be a chronicle without compare in theatrical history. I doubt if there is another man anywhere with his continuous record save on the stage itself. He has played the same in his humble, but very necessary way for more than a generation. And in company with many thousands—and in their names I say it—"Bill, good-by; take care of yourself!"

Lloyd Comedy in Third Week

The third and final week of Harold Lloyd's first audible comedy, "Welcome Danger," opens at the Paramount Theater today. More than 72,000 people paid admission to see and hear this picture during the second week of its run, it is announced, which is one of the most successful weeks ever experienced by the theater. Barbara Kent, the comedian's feminine lead, has been winning much added popularity by her performance in the picture. Her winning smile and clear-toned voice make her an ideal partner for Lloyd. It is said, Noah Young, as a police rookie in San Francisco, is playing a leading role.

Revered Character Portrayed

Frank McGlynn
Resumes his old role as Abraham Lincoln in the play by that name starting Saturday at El Capitlan. The noted actor originated the part on the stage many years ago.

"SHOW OF SHOWS" LISTED

Warner Brothers spectacular, "Show of Shows," the all-Technicolor Revue with 110 movie stars, will start at Warner Brothers Downtown Theater on the 23rd inst. "Show of Shows" will open here with a gala premiere, with stars and lights and all the usual first-night festivities. Provided with stars enough for fifty ordinary pictures, "Show of Shows" presents a glittering pageant of the amusement world. Heading the players who participate are John Barrymore, Irene Bordoni, Winnie Lightner, H. B. Warner, Betty Compton, Rich and Bartholmeas, Beatrice Lillie, Ted Lewis, Nick Lucas, Georges Carpentier, Dolores Costello, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., Louise Fazenda, Frank Fay and hundreds of others. The complete list reads like a "Who's Who" of moviedom. John C. Adolfi directed.

"Kiss" Starts Run at Loew's

With "The Kiss" title and with Greta Garbo one of the parties around which center highly dramatic events, the new picture opening today at Loew's State promises fine entertainment for patrons. This will probably be the last silent picture to be made by Miss Garbo, it is said. Jacques Feyder, French director imported to film the story, is said to have introduced some startling new camera angles and effects and a thorough directorial technique. Conrad Nagel and Holmes Herbert are chief in support with Lew Ayres playing the juvenile and Anders Randolf the husband. Fanchon and Marco's new stage offering is called "Hot Dominos."

GIBSON BACK

Hoot Gibson is again a familiar figure around local airports. The "flying cowboy" has been on location for western sequences of "Courting Calamity" for the past ten days, and as a result his two personally owned planes have had no time.

CHINESE PLANS GALA OCCASION

Ann Harding
"Condemned," Samuel Goldwyn's latest production starring Ronald Colman with Ann Harding, will get off to a flying start tonight at Grauman's Chinese Theater amidst the gala festivities of a brilliant premiere. The film was directed by Wesley Ruggles and includes Louis Wolheim, Dudley Digges and others in the supporting cast. Harry Richmond will act as master of ceremonies for the Columbia Broadcasting Company national radio hook-up. KJL is the local station.

Whispers in the Wings

BY MURIEL BARCOCK
ARTHUR COLLINS, London producer, will stage "Pala Morgana," Ernest Vajda's sensational sex drama of a few years ago, at the Vine-street Theater, starting probably Christmas Day. Morgan Parley, who created the role of the boy in the New York production, has been borrowed by Collins from Paramount for his original characterization. Dolores Del Rio is to be invited to play the dramatic part of Mathilde, the older woman with whom Parley is in love. It is understood that Jetta Goudal was at one time considered for this part. Collins, incidentally, is the husband of Betty Ross Clarke, a favorite of the movies a few years ago and now playing in Henry Duff's "Remote Control," at the President. Collins' producing activities at the Vine-street are through arrangement with Franklin Pangborn. It is said. "Pala Morgana" was done locally in the fall of 1925, first with Mervin Williams and Stella De Lanti in the principal roles, and a few months later at the Philharmonic with Williams and Ora Carew. "Jay Walker" Arrives in Town
"The Jay Walker," one of Olga Printzlau's plays, produced in New York in 1928, is to be staged by the Troupers at their Green Room, 1834 El Centro avenue, Saturday, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday evenings. Marion Burns, late of "The Front Page" and "After Dark," is to have the title role. Lydia Knott and Paul Kruger are in the cast.

George Jessel Back to Stage

Telegraphic dispatches from New York last evening carried the news that George Jessel's return to the theater which has been considered imminent for some time became definite yesterday with the signing of a contract with John Golden, Jessel, who has been devoting recent months to the talking films will be seen in a play by Bertram Bloch, tentatively entitled "P. S.—He Got the Job." The scenes are laid in Egypt of biblical times, and Mr. Jessel's role will be that of Joseph. The play is said to be written in modern terms and Jessel will sing a number of ancient Hebrew songs. The play will open in Brooklyn on January 6 and is expected in New York late in January or early in February.

Pangborn Will Have Role of Santa's Aide

As a mark of special courtesy to Franklin Pangborn, the Hollywood Boulevard Association has invited the lesser producer to be the guest of St. Nicholas in the festivities on "Santa Claus Lane" in Hollywood. The honor will go to Pangborn of riding as Santa Claus's honored guest behind the reindeer in one of his forthcoming nightly pilgrimages down the restricted portion of Hollywood Boulevard from Vine street to La Brea before the season. Pangborn is playing the character lead.

BRICE DIRECTING

Monte Brice is directing a two-reel picture at Paramount, with the Indian band which officiated at the inauguration of Vice-President Curtis as the actors.

BY THE END OF THE THIRD DAY OF THE MEUSE-ARGONNE BATTLE THE AMERICAN ARMY HAD PUSHED THE GERMANS BACK SEVEN MILES BETWEEN THE MEUSE AND THE ARGONNE AND THREE MILES IN THE ARGONNE FOREST. TWENTY TOWNS AND VILLAGES AND 10,000 PRISONERS HAD FALLEN INTO OUR HANDS.

SOME OF OUR DIVISIONS HAD SUFFERED DREADFULLY, PARTICULARLY THE GALANT OHIOANS OF THE 37TH, WHO HAD FOUGHT THEIR WAY THROUGH THE DEEP RAVINES OF MONTAUCON WOOD.

DURING THE NIGHT OF SEPTEMBER 26 THE VETERAN TROOPS OF THE 3RD AND 32ND DIVISIONS RELIEVED THE 37TH AND 31ST.

THURSDAY MORNING. MAIL CARRIER HELD IN FRAUD

Name Declared Used in Book Scheme

as Colonel's Air Tour Aide Also Charged

Counts Included in Federal Indictment ambitions of Gerald Gage, for seven years a mail carrier in Los Angeles, yesterday led to his arrest by Deputy United States Marshal Man-gerina on nine counts of a Federal indictment charging use of the mails to defraud by the use of the name of Col. Charles Lindbergh and by representing himself to be Donald E. Keyhole, Lindbergh's aide in his tour of the United States.

Gage was charged in the indictment, which was returned yesterday, that he obtained a contract with Dorrance & Co., Inc., publishers of a book to be called "We Fly," by representing himself to be Keyhole, and he had been commissioned by Lindbergh to write the book. Lindbergh had gone over the manuscript and had given it to him.

"PRACTICAL JOKE" the marshal's office yesterday did not deny that he had considered the plan for the publication of the book as a "practical joke."

Gage was stated by Asst. U. S. Atty. Gen. who investigated the case.

Gage had a book called "We Fly," published in Los Angeles, and that he represented to Dorrance & Co. that he was the man who had written several books for the Saturday Evening Post.

It is charged that, beginning in 1927, Gage communicated with Dorrance & Co. on paper bearing the name of "Donald E. Keyhole," and that he had been commissioned by Lindbergh to write the book.

The address given by Gage in the indictment is 1011 North Boyle street, Los Angeles, Cal.

It is charged in the indictment that Gage is a mail carrier and is on the mail route between Los Angeles and San Francisco.

Gage was stated that information in his hands indicates that he had received the letters to the address in the name of "Donald E. Keyhole," and that he had been commissioned by Lindbergh to write the book.

The company opened negotiations with the Saturday Evening Post for the publication of the book.

Gage is said to have sent Dorrance & Co. numerous pictures, said to have been taken at Balboa Park, falsely representing them to be pictures of Lindbergh as a child.

The pictures, squabbles of which were in the pictures, were made for reproduction of the book.

The book is said to have been made at Benares.

SUSPECT IN ARSON CASE ARRESTED

Prisoner Also Reported to Have Represented Self as Deputy Sheriff

Accused by deputy sheriffs of having attempted to set fire to a garage in the rear of the home of Robert Gardiner at 1448 East Seventy-sixth street last Tuesday night.

Totten, who has represented himself as a deputy sheriff, Wilbur Totten, 30 years of age, of 1434 East Seventy-sixth street, yesterday was arrested in the County Jail on charges of suspicion of arson and impersonation of an officer.

Investigation also is under way to determine two small boys who were arrested in the neighborhood, according to a Sheriff's office report.

Totten, who is a factory worker and has a wife and a young daughter, was arrested in 1929 because of suspicion of arson at a fire on East Seventy-sixth street early yesterday morning by deputy sheriff Fred W. Smith, who took him to the station from the Florence substation.

According to the report, he was identified by Mrs. Ann Gorenbaum, 1431 East Seventy-sixth street, as the man who had called at her home previously and requested to use her telephone, stating he was a deputy sheriff.

The two additional fires being investigated occurred in the rear of the home of Ernest Barnes at 1454 East Seventy-seventh street at about 10:15 p.m. last Tuesday, and one early the same morning at the home of Mike Ditzler, 1434 East Seventy-sixth Place.

Woman Jailed as Drunk Driver

Jeannine Coker, 24 years of age, at 1602 Rotary Drive, was booked at the Hollywood police station tonight on a charge of driving while intoxicated a short time after she had collided with the automobile of J. Frank Kessler Drive on Hollywood Boulevard.

According to the police report Mrs. Coker, 334 South Daly street, was hurt in the collision, and was treated at the Dickey & Goss Hospital for a wrenched back and broken ribs.

She also was taken to the emergency hospital by a passing motorist, where she was given the sobriety test. She later was transferred to the City Jail.

Hollywood Sheiks Buy Infielder From Browns

OTIS BRANNON TO JOIN STARS

Lane Lands Second Baseman
from St. Louis Club

New Vitman Rated as Good Man on Double Plays

Angels Have Yet to Line Up
Any Talent for 1930

BY BOB RAY

As the first step in his campaign to line up a pennant contending club for Hollywood next season,

Bill Lane yesterday wired from Chattanooga, where the National Minor League convention is in session, that he had bought infielder Otis Brannon from the St. Louis Browns.

Brannon, who went up to the Browns from the Tulsa Western League club in 1928, is rated as a steady fielding second baseman and a great hand at completing double plays. He is a left-hand batter and figure to club the ball for about a .310 average against Coast League pitching, which wasn't anything to rave about last season.

By the acquisition of Brannon, Lane believes that he has at last plugged the second-base hole that was left when Johnny Watrous was traded.

Irish to Face Tougher Foes Next Season

SOUTH BEND (Ind.) Dec. 4.—

Information from unofficial sources indicate that Notre Dame's football schedule for 1930 will be as tough, if not tougher, than the 1929 schedule.

Notre Dame, it is rumored, will meet Southern Methodist, Navy, Indiana, Drake, Northwestern and possibly Nebraska or Carnegie in the Notre Dame stadium.
Games away from home will be with Army, Southern California, Pennsylvania and Pittsburgh.
Authorities are silent as to the proposed schedule.

nished the big thrill of the third round of the Professional Golfers' Association championship today when they went forty holes before Espinosa won the match.

A stygian aided Espinosa at the finish.

At the fifteenth of the afternoon round Espinosa was 2 down, but he picked up two holes, winning the match.

The original field of the more than 1000 players, has been reduced to eight and six of these were members of the American Ryder Cup team which toured Europe this summer. I consider this worth a mention.

GREAT BATTLE

The feature match tomorrow will bring Leo Diegel against Gene Sarazen. Diegel, the present champion, has been in California for two months, and is playing the best golf in the field, but Gene has won this title twice before and is known to be one of America's greatest match-play golfers. Diegel won today by 10 to 9, his margin in the first round. H. Barron was the victim today.

Sarazen worked into the third round by defeating Fred Morrison, the Southern California favorite.
Gene had a little too much experience for Morrison. I consider the turning point of this game was at the fourth hole in the afternoon.
Gene was 1 up and Morrison pitched his third up the hill and was less than three feet from the pin. This is a par-five hole and a real one. It is impossible to get home in two.

FOUR PAIRS, ALL ACES

The fortunes of golf yesterday teased these eight "golfing greats" into the quarter-finals of the national professional championship today at the Hillcrest Country Club. At Watrous of Detroit yesterday shot a spectacular 66 to easily win his second-round match an today faced Al Espinosa of Chicago, last year's runner-up in the P.G.A. event. Johnny Farrell, 1928 national open champion, meets Horton Smith's conqueror, Craig Wood of New Jersey, in what should be one of the best matches of the day. Walter Hagen faces a dark horse, Tony Manero, while Gene Sarazen and Leo Diegel, the defending champion, clash in the tidbit of the day. If the dope is correct, Diegel and Hagen will battle in the semifinals tomorrow. (A. P. photos)

BY WALTER TRUMBULL
NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—In picking an all-American squad it is just about as easy to select thirty-nine star players as it is to select a first eleven. The best laid plans of basketball players go awry. Even the star guard covering a forward like a leech by sticking right in front of him sometimes has this forward shoot a shot at the basket. He usually does it by backing up and shooting over the guard's head. A faint to pass under him generally precedes the play.

STECHER PLANS ATTACK FOR GO

Challenger Will Play for Sonnenberg's Tummy
Scientific Mat Tactics to be Used by ex-Champ

Daviscourt and Shaw Meet in Semifinal Event

"Dynamic" Gus Sonnenberg, world's mat king, and Joe Stecher, who is after that title for the fourth time, will both concentrate their mat attacks on the other's stomach when they clash at the "Clympic Wednesday" night in a best-of-two-of-three-fall finish championship match.

That became evident yesterday with the announcement that Stecher would attempt to beat Sonnenberg by scientific wrestling, just as he did Martin Plesina, the big "trust buster" here last week. Stecher's mat work against the huge Jugoslav is said by the mat critics here to have been the best he has ever shown on the Coast.

It is Stecher's hope to get behind Sonnenberg, hit him into the mat, and then use his mat-breaking grips that the titleholder will have a hard time standing up. Stecher was unable to get an effective hold on the champion in their last meeting because of the cradle defense he used against it.

Sonnenberg's stomach is rated as the weakest part of his wrestling machinery. He has been forced to protect himself against one grappler, who inflicted punishment on the stomach, and that was Stecher. When the Nebraska found he could not get his pet grip on the champion, he used the latter with better results than he expected.

Charles Hubert and Leonard Lee—both familiar with holding such events—are looking after the details of the show. They have just the real wind-up of the night, the show sold out every night.

A grand prize of $1000 will be given the winning team. Over twenty-five teams entered the contest. The large industrial and manufacturing concerns here are showing most interest in placing tug teams in the field.

The tug-of-war contest will be held at the night of the 6th.

RABBIT PUNCHES PAUL LOWRY

WELL, our native son, Mr. Frederick Morrison, went and hit the dust in the second round of the national P.G.A. yesterday, but one of my operatives made the thrilling discovery that all is not lost.

Mr. Al Espinosa, who is in the upper bracket of the draw, is even more of a native son than Mr. Morrison. He was born around the Bay region of the north, learned his golf in San Francisco, and therefore is a home-bred in every sense of the word despite the fact that he writes Chicago after his name on the hotel registers.

A mere transfer of one's residence does not count in this department's classification of home-breds, and if Mr. Espinosa comes through this great tourney as a victor it shall be a pleasure to chronicle a dynamic victory for another native son.

Mr. Espinosa has a brother known as Abe whom Mr. Will Rogers confused with Al the other day. Abe is also a native son, but he isn't playing in this golf tourney, and Al is. In older days they used to call Abe "Little Peanut," and Al was known as "Big Peanut." I haven't heard these queer nicknames applied in recent years. Perhaps the boys have outgrown them since they moved to Chicago and other spots.

OUR Mr. Frederick Morrison did himself quite proud in the qualifying round and in the first round of mat play, but he was forced to succumb yesterday to the superior striking of squatty little Gene Sarazen.

This was no walkway match, and our Mr. Morrison was only 1 down at the end of the morning eighteen holes. But he dropped two more holes by the time he hit the turn in the afternoon, and was 4 down at the end of the twenty-eighth hole with eight to play.

This is quite a handicap for any golfer, but to the credit of Mr. Morrison it is chronicled that after missing a chance to get a hole back on the eleventh, he finally wound up by winning the fourteenth and fifteenth in a row.

On the previous hole Mr. Sarazen had wandered far off the course and his little white pill found a resting spot under a tree with low-hanging branches. Some suggest that Mr. Sarazen could not hit the ball, but Mr. Henry (no relation to the Pasadena man who picks football teams for New Year's Day consumption) said it couldn't be done because Mr. Sarazen was in the rough. Mr. Henry is head of the local A.A.U., and this body is very meticulous about such matters. Mr. Henry was not refereeing the match, but being very familiar with all sorts of athletic rules, he volunteered the information.

At any rate the situation caused Mr. Sarazen after a pair of important strokes to be down by his hole. Our Mr. Morrison put his ball on the green, but Mr. Sarazen's landed in the trap to the left. Mr. Morrison rolled his pill right up to within a foot of the cup. Mr. Sarazen's chip from the sand was so strong that the ball rolled over the green and into the hole.

In this predicament what does Mr. Sarazen do but chip the ball into the cup for a 3 and a half with Mr. Morrison thereby ending the match which had been dormant since the thirteenth hole when he made the birdie and the birdie.

And somehow I suspect that Mr. Sarazen's chip was rather lucky, an extremely fortunate shot which pulled him out of a hole when he had begun to crack. But that's golf, and Mr. Sarazen must be hailed for his victory.

AL DOES WELL
NOTE that Mr. Al Watson, my boy friend from Detroit, is dashed right along in the upper bracket of the draw, and after losing Larry Nabholz by the prodigious score of 3 and 7 meets our native son hope, "Big Peanut" Espinosa.

Now if anybody has to beat our native son I would prefer that it be Mr. Watson, who is a nice-looking boy with a round face, pleasant manners and carefully slicked hair.

It also would be pleasant news for Mrs. Watson and the little Watsons who are working in San Diego eagerly awaiting word of the rise and fall of the Watson fortunes.

"Big Peanut" had quite a time downing "Wild Bill" Mehlhorn yesterday, and it may be that "Big Peanut" had enough taken out of him, as they say of football teams after a tough game, for Mr. Al Watson, who only had to play twenty-nine holes as against forty, to win the cake today.

PICK OFFICIALS FOR PREP TILTS

Seth Van Patten Announces Saturday's Arbiters
Fullerton Has Chance to Upset Santa Barbara Coliseum Out as Site for C.I.F. Finals

BY IRVING ECKHOFF
Officials for both semifinal games of the C.I.F. football play-off for the Southern California prep title to be played Saturday were announced last night by Seth Van Patten, director of athletics for the southern section of the C.I.F.

The Huntington Park-Los Angeles struggle at Wrigley Field will find Motis Blair, referee; Bruce Kirkpatrick, umpire; Cyril Tipton, head linesman, and Verle Brown, field judge.

Jim Hunt is to referee the Santa Barbara-Fullerton contest, with Sid Foster, umpire; Lee Dempsey, head linesman, and Fred Cowan, field judge. Fullerton is the home team.

Although most of the local interest is centered around the Spartan-Jackrabbits battle at Wrigley Field, the Indian-Golden Toros clash at Fullerton promises to be much closer than most people suspect.

While Coach Clarence Schmitt's Santa Barbara team has by far the best record of the four teams in the play-off, their competition hasn't been quite as tough as Fullerton's, as the Indians are.

Quite a number of local coaches who have officiated in both Fullerton and Santa Barbara games, state that the Indians will give the northerners a hard game and have a fine chance to score an upset.

With Santa Barbara being picked as a heavy favorite to not only defeat Fullerton, but take the winner of the Huntington Park-Los Angeles game in the finals, the Indians are in a good spot, as far as team psychology goes, to knock over the confident northerners.

A site for the finals on the 12th inst. hasn't been selected as yet. The Coliseum was definitely counted out yesterday when Coach Farmer, manager of the big bowl, refused to allow the prep to play there.

Farmer's reason was the Carnegie Trust-Trojan fracas on the 11th inst. in the game event at the Alhambra Boulevard oval. The Carnegie Trust-Trojan fracas on the 11th inst. in the game event at the Alhambra Boulevard oval.

The finals will in all probability be played at Wrigley Field, although an official announcement will not be made until next week.

Helen Uses Same Stance

BY SOL METZGER
"Helen of Hempstead," who is none other than Helen Hicks, Canadian women's golf champion, is not exactly an orthodox golfer. Her game is chiefly of her own development. When that is the case certain short cuts that tend to simplify the stroke are bound to follow.

For example this long hitter plays the ball from the exact same spot for all shots. The spot she places it is directly off her left shoulder.

Now we have what when Jack Hutchinson moves the ball back toward a point nearer the right foot for his pitches. Not so Miss Hicks. Yet she can pitch 'em up to the pin with any of the women players.

Jack moves the ball back, as we have said, in order to hit in on the downswing when pitching. Helen does not. She takes it with her hands at the lowest point of the arc of her through swing. Why these differences? What do they mean?

Dick Ferris Holds at Bay Father Time
Ill luck descended on Father Time yesterday and he got a bad back in his reaping knife and a lousy kick in his withered shins, all because he returned for his yearly bout with Dick Ferris and found that chipper fellow again victoriously celebrating his thirty-eighth annual birthday. The able raconteur and former matinee idol decided several years ago—and the exact number is nobody's business—that thirty-eight years are sufficient for a fellow in the prime of health and happiness to lug about. So he adopted that age.
